REDS LAUNCH FRESH ATTACK AGAINST NAZIS

Powerful Counter-Thrust Near Smolensk Admitted by German Command.

BLAME BAD WEATHER

Moscow Goes Through Fifth Air Raid; British Bomb Berlin.

(By United Press)

BERLIN — The German high command said today that a powerful Soviet counter-attack has been launched northeast of Smolensk. Bad weather and poor roads are hampering the Nazi offensive in Russia, the statement said.

The official communique revealed that the Russians had massed powerful reserve forces in the Vyazma area, 85 miles northeast of Smolensk on the road to Moscow, and thrown them into a strong counter attack in the region to the west and southwest of Vyazma.

The high command claimed, however, that the Soviet counter-attack had been beaten off by German forces with heavy losses to the Russian troops.

The high command admitted that both bad roads and bad weather are hampering operations on the massive eastern front.

It was the third successive day that the high command had noted difficulties in the Nazi offensive due to Soviet resistance and counter-attacks.

Nevertheless, it was claimed that at all points on the long front "pursuit" of what was described as the beaten enemy, was in progress and in the Ukraine, the high command claimed, the stand of Soviet rearguard forces has been broken.

Mopping up operations in Bessarabia soon will be completed, the announcement from the fuehrer's headquarters asserted. Military quarters earlier had indicated that German and Rumanian forces in the southern sector were forging ahead faster than the Germans

Celebration Caps City-County Pot, Pan Drive Tonight

Assured of overwhelming success, members of the Mansfield and Richland county committees for the collection of salvaged aluminum for national defense completed plans today for a victory celebration tonight.

James F. Carrigan, city chairman, and George B. Ganyard, county chairman, announced that their districts had contributed generously to the campaign and that they expected the aluminum dump near Central park to be filled to an overflowing point by night.

Four more loads of aluminum are expected from the house-to-house canvass in the Sixth ward today and the many rural communities not yet reporting

Last night's ball game between the Lima Pandas and the Mansfield Braves brought out a record crowd — who contributed approximately 1,500 pieces of aluminum.

Carrigan said that he had received no word from the city of Marion which he challenged to a contest for aluminum collection.

No Sabotage In Crash of 2 Bombers

Army Probers Rule on Cardington Crack-Up; Start New Inquiry.

While the army air corps began its investigation into the crash of a military plane near Newark yesterday, officials today declared there was no evidence of sabotage in crashes of two other planes, one of them an 18-ton Lockheed-Hudson bomber which spiraled to earth near Cardington, killing the two pilots.

The mail plane crashed yesterday afternoon in a wheat field near Newark. It was the fourth crash within 24 hours in central Ohio. The plane's crew said the motor cut out and that when they attempted to make an emergency landing the landing gear was jammed. None of the three men in the plane was injured.

A sistership of the bomber which crashed at Cardington smashed up and burned in a ground loop during a takeoff at Patterson field, Dayton. Earlier a large transport caught fire but landed safely at the same field.

Col. M. G. Estabrook, jr., commandant at the field, asserted today that the series of mishaps was a "series of remarkable coincidenses."

"They were all accidents, different in nature," Estabrook said, "and there is not the slightest indication of sabotage."

Meanwhile two official boards of inquiry were named to investigate the crashes of the Lockheed bombers which were being ferried to Montreal for the Royal Air Force.

Major E. K. Warburton was assigned to make a preliminary investigation of the crash near Newark in which Capt. M. M. Beach, pilot; Lieut. C. H. Ter-

PEACE SEEN

Welles Says Peru, Ecuador Set to End Border Warfare.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles reported today the state department has received word that Peru and Ecuador are ready to end their warfare over territorial claims.

Welles disclosed that the Peruvian foreign minister had informed the Brazilian and Argentine ambassadors at Lima that Peru would accept the fixing of a definite date and hour for cessation of hostilities. Ecuador has indicated a similar attitude, according to the secretary.

As a result, Welles reported, the American government is in telephonic touch with Rio De Janeiro and Buenos Aires on what steps the three governments should take to fix an armistice.

At bottom is letter sent to Chief of Staff George Marshall by an army sergeant who received one of the first cards mailed. Secretary of War Stimson charged that this act of Wheeler's comes "near the line of treason."

MERCURY SOARS TO 90'S AGAIN

Weatherman Says No Relief In Sight Until Sunday Night Or Monday Morning.

The season's worst heat wave continued to blister Mansfield today as the mercury climbed to the 90-degree mark at noon and the weatherman promised no hope for relief before Sunday night or Monday.

Mansfield's reading of 94 yesterday afternoon, two degrees under the season's record, made the city one of the state's "cooler" spots, but sweltering residents of the city didn't notice it. Average reading here for the past 24 hours was 80, seven above normal.

At Defiance it was 100, while Cleveland reported 99, highest ever recorded there on July 25. Ottawa recorded 98, Cincinnati and Springfield, 97, and Columbus, 96.4.

Three deaths, including two drownings in Ohio, were attributed to the heat. Two four-year-old boys, Robert Colwell and Richard Tracy, were drowned in the Auglaize river at Defiance. J. W. Johnston, 50,

Two In 'Miracle Escapes' From Crushed Truck, Car

Driver Thrown Out of Cab Seconds Before Heavy Load Crashes Down on Seat; Car Demolished.

(Picture on Page 10)

Two Mansfield drivers had miraculous escapes from serious injury or possible death last night when their vehicles figured in two of a series of traffic accidents in and near Mansfield.

John Laughlin, 24, of 314 East Luther place, escaped almost certain death when he was thrown clear from the cab of his trailer-truck as it left U. S. route 42 about five miles north of the city shortly before 8 p. m.

The cab which Laughlin had been occupying was crushed when the trailer, loaded with heavy kitchen sinks, piled on top of the cab. Laughlin suffered only cuts and bruises and was treated at General hospital.

In a collision in the city, James E. Friday, 614 South Diamond street, received only a cut on his lower lip although his auto was completely demolished. Police reported that Friday's auto and another driven by Fred Sawyer, 674 Scholl road, collided at First and Main streets today at 4:30 a. m. Both drivers told police that they had the green light at the time of the crash. Friday was treated at General hospital.

In the first accident, Laughlin told state highway patrolmen that he had lost control of his truck while trying to avoid crashing into another car he was passing. The truck swerved into the ditch and overturned with the heavy trailer crashing down on the driver's cab.

MORE PROTEST

Richland Farmers Schedule Two New Mass Meetings.

Farmer protests against the government wheat marketing penalty continued to spread today as Richland county farmers planned two mass meetings for early next week.

Farmers in the northern part of the county will organize at 8:30 p. m. Monday in the Plymouth school auditorium where Russell Kiko, Massillon, a leader in organizing the Farmers' Protective league branches, will be the speaker.

A meeting for farmers in central and southern parts of the county will be held early next week in Mansfield, probably at Madison high school or the Fairground, it was announced today. Time of the meeting has not been set.

Meanwhile, more than 200 Crawford county farmers heard a talk last night by Congressman Fred C. Smith of the Eighth Ohio district at a protest meeting at the Holmes-Liberty school.

PHILIPPINE ARMY PUT IN U. S. SERVICE

Order by Roosevelt Places Islands Virtually on Wartime Footing.

INCLUDES NAVY UNITS

American Troops at Hawaii Also Ordered to Be on Precautionary Alert.

(By International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y.— President Roosevelt today directed that the Philippine army be called into the service of the United States for the period of the existing emergency.

(At Honolulu it was revealed all troops of the United States army Hawaiian department had been ordered on a "precautionary alert" footing effective today.)

The president's proclamation was in the form of a military order.

The effect will be to put the Philippines on a war-time basis, with all military forces on the islands being placed under a general officer.

Naval components are similarly affected, these units being placed under command of the commandant of the 16th naval district.

Headquarters for this district are at Cavite, P. I.

Though small numerically, the Philippine army is well organized and well trained.

It is now under the command of General Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff of the United States army.

MacArthur went to the Philippines at the request of the Philippine commonwealth, charged specifically with building up, strengthening and training the commonwealth's armed forces.

4 Youths In Jail Here Two Weeks Taken to Ft. Hayes.

Held in the Richland county jail since July 13, when they were taken into custody for returning home from Camp Shelby, Miss., without leave, four youthful soldiers were taken to Fort Hayes in Columbus late yesterday to start their trip back to camp.

An officer from Fort Hayes came after the youths in a station wagon after Sheriff Frank E. Robinson notified Fort Hayes that the quartet had no funds for transportation back to camp.

The four who were A.W.O.L are Steve Moritz, 23, and George Hymes, 19, both of Mansfield; Bayne Baker, 19, Shelby R. D. 1, and Albert L. Kitzmiller, 22, Crestline.

It was the second time Moritz, Hymes and Baker had left the camp to come home without permission, the sheriff said. Moritz was released from the county jail several months ago to permit him to join the army.

Tokyo Reprisal Comes Quickly After FDR Act

Trade Between Two Nations Placed In Control of Washington By Order Of President; British Also Put on Economic Pressure.

BULLETIN

TOKYO—(INS)—All British assets in Japan were frozen by the Nipponese government today.

(By International News Service)

TOKYO — The Japanese government announced today the freezing of all United States assets in Japan.

The Tokyo government acted in speedy reprisal against the move of President Roosevelt, who last night froze all Japanese assets in the United States and placed all United States-Japanese trade under direct control of the Washington government.

The Japanese reply was the first Tokyo move to strike back against the United States. Whether British assets in Japan would similarly be frozen was not immediately known.

(Editor's Note: Britain has frozen all Japanese assets throughout the British empire and also has notified the Japanese government of London's decision to denounce all Anglo-Japanese commercial agreements.)

Japanese officials obviously were angered by official American statements condemning the Tokyo-Vichy agreement for "defense" of Indo-China as a threat to American territory in the Far East.

With Japan and the United States exchanging economic punches, it was announced the privy council would meet on Monday to consider the situation.

Finance minister Ogura announced in a formal statement that Japan had been making preparation in anticipation of Washington's freezing move and declared:

"As a result, the remainder of Japanese assets in the United States is quite small.

Furthermore, Japanese-American trade has been diminishing in volume and consequently the economic effect of the American move is comparatively slight.

"Full preparations have been completed against the American move and appropriate steps will be taken as the situation demands."

The Japanese freezing order came in the form of a finance ministry announcement stating

EYE BLOCKADE OF JAPANESE

British Say Freezing Order Only One of Many Means To Put Japs on Knees.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Economic experts suggested today that freezing of Japanese assets in the United States and the British Empire was only one weapon in an economic arsenal that could bring Japanese industry to its knees in six months.

As British newspapers expressed satisfaction with the freezing action in retaliation for Japan's expected move on Indo-China, officials let it be known that a total blockade of Japan has been studied.

Occupation of Indo-China would increase Japanese stocks of rubber, tin, rice, tungsten, coal and zinc, but Britain and America could cripple Japan by cutting off her imports of iron ore, scrap iron, pig iron, copper, nickel, aluminum, manganese, vanadium, mercury,

Ohio Brass Given $340,000 U. S. Order For Shell Primers

The Ohio Brass company today had received one of the largest defense contracts awarded to any Mansfield plant within the past few months—a $340,000 order for shell primers.

The contract, awarded yesterday by the war department in Washington, calls for the manufacture of 8,000,000 primers. Primers are small devices which control the explosion of the explosive charge in artillery shells.

Roger A. Black, manager of the special products division of the Ohio Brass company, said the order would take 10 months to complete. Production is scheduled to start soon, Black said, utilizing the company's present equipment.

New screw machines have been ordered by the company, Black added, and are scheduled for delivery in October. These will also be used in the production of the primers.

On the basis of a five-day week, primers will have to be turned out at the rate of 40,000 a day to complete the order in the next 10 months.

Black said work on the order—the first announced by the company—would not call for an increase in employment, since the primers are made almost completely by machine operation.

The plant now employs about 800 men.

Welles Confers Today With Russian Military Mission

WASHINGTON—The acting secretary of state, Sumner Welles, will confer this afternoon with a Soviet military mission

Welles said the mission, which arrived in New York today by plane, would fly on to Washington immediately and confer with him and with General Marshall, army chief of staff, later.

The mission has come to the United States to co-ordinate the questions of securing military supplies of various categories, it was said.

It is headed by Lieut. Gen. Filip Golikov and Engineer General R. Respin. Constantin Oumansky, the Soviet ambassador, will accompany them on their calls.

Various United States agencies are now considering what military supplies desired by the Soviet can be shipped to them in the immediate future, as a result of the request transmitted to the state department by the ambassador.

No details of the supplies have been made public and Welles today declined to discuss any possible items on the list except to designate them as military supplies.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Manhattan Nights.

PROBABLY nowhere outside Manhatan does such exquisite marital etiquette exist as in the never-never world of Broadway-and-cafe society, where ex-husbands and ex-wives exchange rhumbas in the Stork club and share lamb chops at Twenty-One; where estranged mates fall upon each other's necks in the lobby of El Morocco and divorced couples meet secretly at the Capitol and holds hands in the loges.

Dorothy Kilgallen

A charming scene in this vein was enacted the other evening at Fefe's Monte Carlo Beach, where play director Otto Preminger, tall, Prussian-looking and distinguished, sat sipping a cooling drink. As he looked up from his beverage a party of pleasure-seekers entered the cafe—among them Marion Preminger, tall, brunet and elegant.

As she glided by his table, Preminger leaped to his feet, clicked his heels, bent from the waist, and kissed her hand. There ensued a few seconds of enthusiastic converse. Then the dark-eyed beauty passed on to her table.

Preminger sat down and turned to his companion with an apolgetic smile. "My wife, you know," he said.

Another scene, more poignant, along the same lines.

Estelle Taylor was walking along Central Park West a few afternoons ago when a big-shouldered, wide-jawed gentleman stepped out of the doorway of the Mayflower hotel and said to her in a soft voice: "Where are you going, little girl?"

Estelle turned and looked up into the gently smiling face of the man who used to be her husband—Jack Dempsey. It was the first time they had spoken in six or seven years.

They stood in the sunlight chatting, and then they went their separate ways. I don't know whether she answered his first question or not; it has been a long time since he knew where she was bound, or she knew—or cared—where the champ was going.

The Cafe Pierre has been conducting a hunt for a girl singer—preferably someone with asociety background, beauty and plenty of friends in the cafe crowd. A couple of weeks ago, someone in authority suggested Eleanor "Cookie" Young, and gave instructions to the hiring staff to contact her and see if she were interested in doing a night club chore.

They tried, all one day, to reach her by phone—but she couldn't be found at any of the places her friends suggested; here, or on Long Island, or in Newport.

It wasn't until the late afternoon papers came up that day that those in search of a new singer learned why they hadn't been able to contact "Cookie" Young.

While they had been putting in their phone calls, she had been flying to her death in the plane that was to crash on a New England beach, killing her and Nicky Embericos.

Broadway, as those who very infrequently get around to writing fiction about it are fond of remarking, is full of fiction plots.

Take, for instance, the story of the two blond girls who met some three years ago in Reno. One "Peaches" Browning, was at the divorce resort shedding Bernard Hynes, Denver theater man; the other, Marcelle Edwards was occupied in getting unhinged from Tommy Manville.

The girls became great friends; they looked somewhat alike and they began dressing alike and palling around together. Marcelle was later to have another husband—Jay Carlisle.

But that venture, too, ended in divorce, and now the reports come in that Jay Carlisle is about to marry again. His bride-to-be, according to the news dispatches, is another blond, somewhat on the Marcelle Edwards type. Her name? "Peaches" Browning.

Many of the maestros who circulate in Manhatian and its environs are incurably romantic fellows—in fact, most of them are—but I think the prize for susceptibility among the baton-wielders goes to Pancho, of Ben Marden's Riviera.

Pancho is a little fellow with eyeglasses, an innocent, inquiring look, and what used to be called patent-leather hair. A pretty girl is like a melody to him—in fact, to him a pretty girl is a melody, a symphony, hot jive, jazz rhythm and boogie-woogie rolled into one.

His neck has a slight permanent arch in it from arching at lovely chorines and other pulchritudinous females who pass him in his work.

He is a constant romance item, and now I hear from a pal who says they told him that Pancho and "Tommy" Adams, one of the Riviera beauties, are planning to elope. If they do, I'll bet the romantic Pancho does it with a rope ladder tossed over her balcony.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The rolling hills around Calabasas echo sweet music these summer days, the sweet songs of Wales that will be most of the musical score of "How Green Was My Valley."

These Welsh are natural musicians. A breeze can't pass through the big oak in the churchyard overlooking the village and the grim colliery before some group of men and women has taken up the refrain in impromptu chorus. These are gay songs, stirring lusty songs, and lonely, yearning songs. You've heard of people who'd rather sing than eat. I believe these would. Around the board-tables of the big location tent, many a box-lunch was left half-filled because some singer, talking of the old songs, began humming and others would join in.

They aren't picture people. They're members of a Welsh church in Los Angeles, employed—by special dispensation of the Screen Actors Guild because, Welsh actors and singers don't grow wild in the Hollywoods—for this one picture. Tudor Williams, the Welsh concert singer, is leading them and playing a part.

Director John Ford, who speaks Gaelic but not Welsh, is all for letting the singers carry the musical background. "I suppose they'll ring in a symphony orchestra or two on me when I'm not looking," he admitted, "but if I have my way I'll keep the instruments to a minimum."

John Ford is very happy about his singers and actors. Not only can they sing but they have "wonderful" faces—authentic, interesting, right out of Richrad Llewellyn's book about the havoc wrought by coal upon a verdant valley.

Richard Day, the art director, has re-created the village life-size — the eight scrubbed-stone houses beside the steep road climbing to the colliery with its noise and smoke and grime; the village's heart, with its directional signs bearing strange names in Welsh, and the tavern of the Three Bells; the stores and shops, and the church under the oak on the knoll, with its mossy gravestones bearing good Welsh names and ancient dates.

It's down a steep road past their neat houses that the strikers march, singing, and it's there, in the stone house at the foot, that housewives Maureen O'Hara and Anna Lee live and pursue perpetual scrubbing and washing that thwarts the coal-dust and keeps their starched white aprons gleaming white.

PLAN TO USE ARMY BILL AS TEST FOR FDR

Non-Interventionists Want Showdown on Foreign Policy In Debate.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Congressional non-interventionists today mapped plans to use the army service extension bill as the vehicle for a full dress debate, and perhaps a test, of President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

With the senate military affairs committee in tentative agreement on major provisions of a bill to extend service of national guardsmen, selectees and reserves beyond one-year, the senate may open debate on the measure on Monday.

The non-interventionists, leaders said, will fight the declaration of a national emergency and a statement that the nation is in peril. They also will seek a new ban on sending an American expeditionary force to Europe.

While administration leaders hoped to pass the service extension bill in the senate next week, and in the house by Aug. 6, a battle over the Roosevelt foreign policy may delay a final decision on the issue.

"You may be sure we will demand a specific prohibition against sending boys beyond the western hemisphere," said Sen. Wheeler (D) Montana.

Sen. Reynolds (D) North Carolina, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, may break with the administration for the first time since becoming head of the important committee, it was reported. He is expected to oppose the service extension bill, although he is seeking to speed up a committee decision.

Rejecting the war department's proposed bill, which contained a sweeping grant of power, the senate committee resumed secret sessions today in an effort to complete the draft of a measure of its own.

Sen. Lee said that only two members of the committee are expected to oppost the bill. He declined to name them.

The house military affairs committee, which wound up hearings on the same subject, will seek to draft a bill early next week.

House Committee Says Three Billion Burden Will Be 'Borne Cheerfully.'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The house ways and means committee today reported the $3,529,200,000 tax bill and said that while it is the largest in history there is "convincing evidence that this burden will be borne cheerfully."

The revenue which would be raised by the bill, added to present taxes which in fiscal 1941 yielded $7,607,000,000, will enable the government to meet about 60 per cent of a nation's all-out defense expenditures from income, and raise the remaining 40 per cent by borrowing, the committee estimated.

The committee contrasted this with the financing system of the first World war, when, it was said, only one-third of expenditures were met by taxation and two-thirds by borrowing.

The bill will go to the house floor for consideration on Tuesday, with a three-day limit on debate which is expected to assure passage by the end of the week. The Republican minority of the committee, while joining in reporting the bill, filed a statement criticizing administration spending.

BEIGHTLER TELLS OHIO TROOPS TO STAND FIRM ON EXTENSION

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(U.P.)—Bulletin boards throughout the 37th division (Ohio National Guard) carried a message from Major General Robert S. Beightler, commanding officer, in which he said that whether or not the national guard will remain in service more than a year is not a question to be decided by the soldiers.

"Don't let it be said that the Buckeye division, which has made such an enviable record to date, can't take it," the message said.

"Our job as soldiers is to serve, our service may well mean more work, more sacrifices and more time than we first believed," Beightler said. "I know that many of you are anxious to go home.

"I know you have plenty of arguments on your side. But I wonder if any one of us would, after sober thought, be willing to abandon at this critical moment all we have worked to build only to satisfy our personal desires."

The message said it was "not unthinkable" that "the very safety of all our cherished possession at home might be endangered if we were to quit the vitally important work we have started."

"I don't care to argue this question or to advocate a decision on whether we remain in the service or return home, but whatever the case, whatever the future, soldiers of the 37th stand firm," Beightler said.

FILES BUDGET

Madison Township to Seek $32,854 For Operating.

Madison township trustees have submitted a budget of $32,845 to the Richland county tax commission, Fred Stahlhaber, township clerk, announced today.

Of the money, $14,475 will be for the general fund, $864 for the light fund, $15,500 for the road and bridge fund and $2,006 for the gas tax fund.

Stahlhaber said money in the general fund would be used for fire protection, care of indigents in hospitals, upkeep of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial building, weed cutting, burials, and Memorial day expenses.

The light fund will be used to maintain 48 township street lights and the road and bridge fund for oiling roads, caring for road machinery and other highway maintenances. The gas tax fund will be used to maintain township roads.

HELD TO JURY

Lucas Man Bound Over in Main Street Shooting Case.

Accused of shooting with intent to wound his cousin, Leonard Jones, 25, following a family argument in Lucas Thursday night, Oscar Jones, 48, of Lucas, pleaded guilty today in Mansfield municipal court and was bound over to the county grand jury under $2,000 bond. Unable to provide bond, he was returned to the county jail.

The younger Jones was struck in the back of the head by one pellet from a shotgun charge fired by his cousin on Main street in Lucas, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said. The younger man suffered only a minor wound.

In court today Jones admitted following the young man out of their home in Lucas and firing at him as he fled down the street. Both said they had quarreled over a radio at the Oscar Jones home where the younger man roomed.

FEDERAL AGENTS NAB AUCTIONEER

Court Official Charged With Embezzling $7,000.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—U. S. marshals and FBI agents arrested R. Earl Swepston, 59, federal court auctioneer, early today on a Madison county farm and returned him here to face a charge of embezzling government funds.

The veteran auctioneer was seized at a farm near Gillivan after FBI agents had hunted him for several days. U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon said Swepston was accused in an affidavit of embezzling about $7,000 while he was a government auctioneer.

At one time Swepston sold $33,000,000 worth of merchandise for the government at the Columbus reserve depot. He was also in charge of the sale at South Charleston, W. Va., of an ordnance plant.

TENSION HIGH OVER SHOOTING

Wounding of Jap Marine Brings New Crisis In Shanghai.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— A gunman believed to be Chinese, shot and wounded a Japanese marine today in the portion of the international settlement occupied by the Japanese military. The shooting was in the area north of Soochow creek and again caused the Japanese to close the bridges over the stream.

The incident heightened tension arising in the settlement as a result of British and American freezing of Japanese credits, and Japanese retaliation on American credits.

THREATENS TO EMPLOY CIVIL SERVICE MEN

Workers Told to Accept Pay Hike or Others Will Be Brought In.

(By Associated Press)

The United States navy prepared today to put civil service workers on $2,000,000 worth of defense projects at Key West, Fla., if more than 800 striking laborers continue to stay away from their jobs.

Lieut. Albert J. Fay, public works officer of the Florida naval station, said a compromise offer increasing pay of the workers by 10 cents an hour, to 50 cents hourly, had been made and that if it were not accepted the navy would bring in civil service workers from various places in the country and take the work over from private contractors.

The laborers demanded 62½ cents an hour. The old pay scale was 40 cents.

They were working on a submarine base, an air base and a naval housing project.

On another strike front, more than 100 striking garment workers at Los Angeles went back to work, leaving 2,000 out. Their organization, the International Garment Workers Union, filed a petition with the National Labor Relations Board charging six garment manufacturers with conspiracy to violate organizational rights of employes, espionage and intimidation.

Union demands included pay increases of 15 to 20 per cent. The strike affected scores of garment factories. Sewing machine operators, the largest group walking out, get $24.75 for a 35-hour week and want $26.50, with overtime pay to start at the 36th hour instead of after 40 hours.

At Crystal City, Mo., the CIO Federation of Flat Glass Workers called a strike at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company plant protesting the alleged dismissal of a union member after a quarrel with a non-union worker. The union claimed its membership included 75 per cent of the 1,900 production employes at the plant, which is making safety glass for defense uses.

Hildred Fackler, typist in Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning's office, was congratulating herself today on the recovery of an envelope she lost last night on the way home. It contained an introduction to help her obtain passes to see and hear a radio broadcast from Radio City in New York when she visits there next month on her vacation. The envelope, found on the street by a Mansfield woman, had Wenning's name on it and was turned over to him. He couldn't remember losing it, but the mystery was cleared up when he got to the office this morning and saw the worried Miss Fackler.

Some of Mansfield's transient tribe which has headquarters along the railroad tracks must have enjoyed themselves last night. Police today were seeking 13 cases of beer stolen from the John Hall Distributing company last night. After the watchman of the Kerns Packing company had noticed one of the transients carrying a case of beer across the railroad tracks, he investigated and found a cache of seven cases of beer and ale. Police found that a total of 20 cases had been stolen from the Hall company during the night and began their search for the missing beer. Little hope was held however, that it would be found intact.

Keeping Mansfielders out of manholes and sewer projects costs the city just 10 gallons of kerosene a day. That's the amount of the fluid that the street and waterworks departments use in their lights around road and sewer projects. So far, it has been worth it. Mansfielders have stayed out of the diggings.

Rev. John C. Peyton of the Little Washington Congregational church was given a rooster and a dozen eggs as a birthday present by a member of his congregation recently. He managed to get the eggs home, but the rooster, which he had placed in a bag in the basement of the church, spent a week in the building, through one Sunday service, before it was discovered by a child. Rev. Peyton at first expressed mild surprise at the discovery and only after several minutes was he able to recall that the rooster was his birthday dinner.

POTION FATAL

Mansfielder Takes Sleeping Powders, Found Dead.

An overdose of a sedative was held responsible today for the death of Mrs. Laura Hill, 49, widow of David Hill, found dead at her home, 270 Park avenue east, this morning.

Dr. L. B. McCullough, Richland county coroner, announced that death was due to "an accidental overdose" of a sleeping powder. He reported that the woman had been ill for sometime and took the sedative to relieve pain.

Mrs. Hill was born in Lexington on May 8, 1892, but spent the greater part of her life in Mansfield. Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Marjorie DeMont, Philadelphis, Pa.; her mother, Mrs. Kate Bachman and a brother, John Bachman, both of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Monday at 1 p. m. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

TAHITI TAKEN BY FREE FRENCH

Australian Paper Reports Arrest of Island Officials.

SYDNEY, Australia —(INS)— The Sydney Sun reported today that "free French" forces have taken charge of Tahiti, the storied French colony in the Pacific south seas.

The newspaper said M. Brunot, Gen. Charles De Gaulle's representative in the Pacific area, arrested the governor of Tahiti, the troop commander and other leading officials at Papeete and took over the Tahiti government pending appointment of a new governor.

SPLIT TREASURE

Heirs to Divide Gold and Silver Found In House at Bascom.

TIFFIN—(U.P.)—Gold and silver unearthed in the basement of a home at Bascom, near here, last September will be divided among the heirs of the builder and former owner of the house and the present owner, under terms of a settlement reached in Seneca county probate court.

At a local bank the contents of keg and several jars were counted. The "treasure" totaled $2,035 in gold and $555 in silver coins.

DRINKS KEROSENE, DIES

Quiz Kid Stumped ---Doesn't Know That Bird Hitler

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Gerard Darrow, 9, Chicago's star "quiz kid," knows all the facts, but when they toss hypothetical problems on international politics at him, he slips.

Gerard, who is here helping raise funds for improving Cleveland's zoo, was guest at a banquet yesterday where he answered such questions as:

What plants eat animals? . . . "The sea anemone eats fish."

What bird wears "glasses" and looks clownish? . . . "The spectacled eider, a member of the duck family."

How many toes has a two-toed sloth? . . . "Ten."

Then someone with a special twist to ornithology asked if there were "any bird big enough to carry off Hitler? . . .

"Who's he?" asked Gerard with sincere curiosity.

HUNGER STRIKE IN 18th DAY

Woman Declares She Won't Eat Until Cleared of Arson Charge.

GLENCOE, Minn. —(INS)— Mrs. Eleanor Jaffray, 42, today began her 18th day of a hunger strike with the declaration:

"I'll never eat another morsel until I'm cleared of these false charges."

Mrs. Jaffray and her son Robert, 23, were arrested July 9 and are scheduled for trial in November on charges of second degree arson for alleged complicity in setting a fire which destroyed their chicken hatchery.

Robert started the hunger strike with his mother, and claims to have lost 30 pounds, but Sheriff Arthur G. Tessmer said he had been eating for the past week.

JAPS COUNTER WITH FREEZING OF U. S. ASSETS

Move Follows Roosevelt Order Tying Up Japanese Funds; British Join Action.

that, effective Monday, the permission of the finance minister would be needed for six classes of transactions involving residents of Japan and nationals of the United States, American territories or the Philippine commonwealth.

These transactions were listed as follows:

1. Acquisition or disposal of movable or immovable properties.
2. Acquisition or disposal of real rights and credits.
3. Transactions in trust or movable or immovable properties or securities.
4. Liquidation, contraction or underwriting of debts.
5. Transactions in financial and trust loans or their accommodation.
6. Any transactions involving monthly sums in excess of 500 yen.

Exceptions were provided in cases involving tax payments and payments of salaries to Japanese employed by American citizens.

Other exceptions were made in cases "specified by the finance minister."

The order stipulated that Japanese entering into transactions such as those listed with Americans will be required to report their properties within two weeks of a date specified by the finance minister.

Simultaneously the foreign office announced that the British government had served notice of its intention to denounce all Anglo-Japanese commercial agreements, on grounds that objectives of the treaties have not been realized.

The Japanese announcement added, however, that the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty will remain in efect for another year and the Indian and Burmese treaties for another six months as provided in their separate denunciation clauses.

The Japanese (Domei) news agency quoted "informed sources" as stating:

"The Japanese government is not surprised by the freezing order and is prepared to take effective and appropriate steps in response to the American action."

News of President Roosevelt's momentous step reached Tokyo almost at the moment both the Japanese and Vichy governments announced that a "complete agreement of views has been reached through friendly conversations between Japan and France regarding their joint defense with respect to French Indo-China."

Authorities in Tokyo said the Japanese government had anticipated the American action and had not been caught off guard.

Domei said that since the American "blow" fell just prior to announcement of the Franco-Japanese pact regarding defense of Indo-China, the American action is regarded as "political."

This statement added the Japanese government now is "waiting to see if the freezure is executed effectively."

Britain To End Jap Commercial Pacts

LONDON—(INS)—Britain today notified Japan of the British government's intention to denounce all Anglo-Japanese commercial treaties.

This action was revealed by London authorities only a few hours after the government, keeping pace with the United States, froze all Japanese assets in the United kingdom and announced similar steps were being taken throughout the British empire.

(Editor's note: The United States commercial agreement with Japan was abrogated by the Washington administration months ago.)

Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador to Tokyo, acting on instructions from London, called on Japanese Foreign Minister Teijiro Toyoda and informed him of Britain's intention.

The treaties to be denounced by the British government include the Anglo-Japanese treaty of 1911, the India-Japan commercial convention of 1934 and the Burma-Japanese commercial convention of 1937.

British authorities emphasized the step was taken with the full approval of the British dominion governments.

They said the action does not necessarily mean the treaties become invalid immediately, since each treaty or convention contains its own specific clause governing denunciation.

(Editor's note: An official announcment in Ottawa stated all Japanese assets in Canada had been frozen.)

Set To Move Into Indo-China Bases

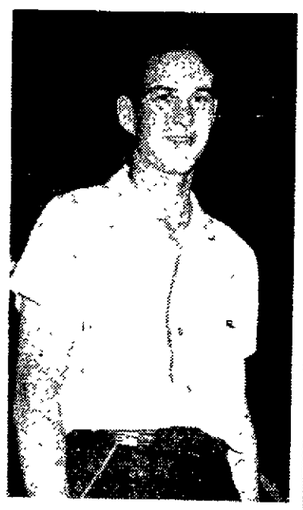
SAIGON, French Indo China—(U.P.)—The Japanese military said today that their planes and warships will move into French Indo-Chinese bases over the week-end, and the local French press called on the public to remain calm in the face of "extremely grave" developments.

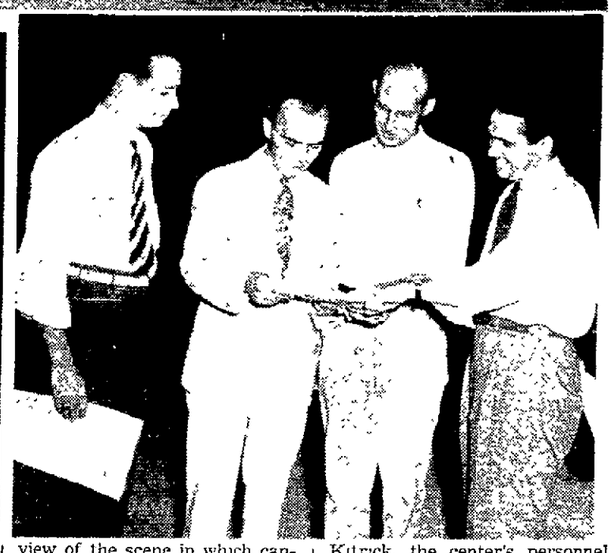
No mention of the Indo-Chinese crisis had been permitted in the press until today.

The Saigon newspapers today announced the imminent Japanese occupation and the conservative newspaper, L'Opinion, said that "again Indo China is front page news but there is no reason to be particularly satisfied and we would rather be without such prominence because it means that there is danger ahead."

Troops are expected to arrive Wednesday.

With Nya Members At Political Rally





Members of the Charles Mill Resident center of the National Youth Administration got a good taste of politics last night when they held a political rally to choose a mayor for the center. Top picture shows a general view of the scene in which candidates from six parties vied for honors. Milton Nichols of Delphos, representing the United Defense Workers party, is shown in the left hand picture addressing the rally. M. L. McKitrick, the center's personnel officer; W. T. Cottingham, director; L. C. Roesner, operations officer; and R. C. Young, youth councilor, are shown comparing notes at the meeting, in the picture on the right.

to execution a plan for formation of a small, highly trained force capable of quick expansion when and if necessary.

Thus the regular army of the commonwealth consists of 930 officers and 6,500 men, but there are reserves totalling 40,000 a year under universal conscription. The Philippine constabulary of 659 officers, and 7,504 men formed the nucleus of the new army organized in 1937.

Under MacArthur's guidance, the army was divided into 127 companies occupying 186 strategic stations. In 1939, the commonwealth's reserve force had mounted to 120,000 men.

Just how much of MacArthur's plans with regard to the Philippine navy have been carried out is not known. However, his scheme contemplated construction of from 50 to 100 fast torpedo boats and 250 first line planes.

It was assumed that General MacArthur would be placed in command of the forces in the Pacific outpost.

President Roosevelt appointed MacArthur as military advisor to President Manuel Quezon's Philippine government.

White House Secretary William D. Hassett, who made the bare announcement of militarization of the Philippines, said General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, would amplify the situation in his offices at Washington.

From his Hyde Park study, Mr. Roosevelt was following intently the movements of Japan against French Indo-China and other South Pacific points which the United States expressly disapproves.

COLLECT POTS

Shelby Fills Fenced Area With Defense Offerings.

SHELBY—Aluminum collected here yesterday for national defense today was taken to Mansfield in a county truck. The collection filled the fenced off area at Central grandstand to overflowing.

Some 20 Boy Scouts took part in the drive here which was sposored by the Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce in charge of Henry Miller, chairman.

The aluminum collected in Plymouth, Sharon and Jackson townships was brought into Shelby and then taken to Mansfield where it was added to the Richland county collection.

FEVER VICTIMS

Physicians Report Two Children Have Rare Malady.

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Physicians reported today that James Cinnamon, 6, and his sister, Gilda, 11, are seriously ill with Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a rare disease.

The announcement was made after completion of laboratory tests which were begun following the death of Mrs. Lora Riley, 68, grandmother of the children. The three were brought to General hospital yesterday after they had been ill for a week.

NYA CAMP AT NEARBY MIFFLIN HAS HEATED POLITICAL RALLY

Organized society, especially its political side, is being studied at the National Youth Administration's Charles Mill Resident center. Last night youths, who for probably the first time had a chance to see how their government was organized and worked, took part in a political rally to choose a mayor for the center.

Robert Young, recreation supervisor, said that each dormitory chose a party and nominated its candidate for the job. Since there are six barracks at the center, there are more than the usual two parties prominent under the American system.

James Stafford of Millersburg was nominated by the Demipublicans and Robert Caudill of Columbus will act as his campaign manager. Other candidates, their parties and managers are. Lloyd Smith, of Wooster, Federalists party, Terry Bennett, Big Prairie, manager; Milton Nichols, Delphos, United Defense Workers party, James Whitfield, Columbus, manager; James Long, Prospect, Unionist party, George Davidson, Bellefontaine, manager; Earl Curtis, Lima, Wigs party, Robert Ewers, Mansfield, manager; Charles W. Hontz, Columbus Pro-American party, Richard DeStefano, Columbus, manager.

At the rally, Young, W. T. Cottingham, director, and M. L. McKitrick, personnel officer, spoke. Young gave the opening address, Cottingham spoke on "Your Government," and McKitrick spoke on "Leadership."

Following the speeches, the candidates were introduced with songs, cheers and ambitious speeches.

Before the month is over, Young said the youths would narrow the race down to a two-party vote by means of a primary and select a council and a court. With an elected mayor, council and court, the recreational director said the camp would have a complete system with the administrative, legislative and judicial departments of government all represented.

Right now the political scene is plenty "hot" at Charles Mill, Young concluded. "Anybody who can vote is being argued with in an effort to swing his vote into line. Since there are six parties and therefore six "lines," the whole situation is extremely complicated. And there's a lot of noise."

MERCURY SOARS TO 90'S AGAIN

of Hamilton, was prostrated at Cincinnati.

The forecast for the week-end was for fair and continued warm weather tonight and Sunday with scattered thundershowers holding some promise of relief Sunday afternoon.

The extreme heat and absence of rain brought a new threat to the water supply in Mansfield's industrial district where the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company and the Dominion Electrical Manufacturing company are already buying water from the city because their own supplies are exhausted.

The increased use of air-conditioning system in the city also placed a heavier load on the city's water supply.

Heat and draught were worse in the states west of the Mississippi than in Ohio. In Nebraska, farmers feared for their crops as the mercury went above 100 degrees for the fifth consecutive day. Fargo, N. D., and Huron, S. D., were the nation's hottest cities yesterday, both recording 104 degrees. It was 101 in Bismarck, N. D., and Sioux City, Ia.

SEEK POWER FOR FDR TO FIX INDIVIDUAL COMMODITY PRICES

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Administration price-control legislation, nearly ready for submission to congress, will seek authority for the president to fix individual commodity prices and to license wholesale dealers, it was learned today.

The legislation will make no attempt to impose a ceiling on wages. Legislative leaders have rejected such proposals to forestall opposition from congressional labor blocs.

Administration spokesmen said that President Roosevelt will send a special mesage to congress early next week on the need for price-control to halt inflation trends. The legislation will be introduced soon thereafter.

Administrator Leon Henderson of the office of price administration and civilian supply has held numerous conferences with congressional leaders, who rejected his earlier proposals as too broad. The new measure, drafted in the light of these discussions, includes the following provisions:

1. Presidential authority to fix individual commodity prices.
2. Power to impose overall ceiling prices in various categories.
3. Stabilization of rents in defense areas where military and industrial expansion has caused abnormal increases.
4. Authority to license manufacturers and wholesalers, providing an additional control over prices. This provision, it was indicated, will not apply to retailers, because of their great number.
5. Penalties for violation of price regulation and use of injunction to halt violations.

REDS LAUNCH FRESH ATTACK NEAR SMOLENSK

and their allies on other fronts.

The high command, again admitting severe counter-attacks by the Russians, said strong Soviet reserves had attacked west and southwest of Vyazma, 85 miles northeast of Smolensk. The attacks collapsed with severe losses for the Red army, the communique said.

The reference to the fighting west of Vyazma indicated that battles raged unabated in the Smolensk area, a vital control point on the road to Moscow.

Hitler's headquarters disclosed a German daylight raid in Moscow, hitherto attacked only by night raiders. The communique said German bombers had scored direct bomb hits on railway facilities.

Moscow Goes Through Fifth Night Raid

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Russians reported today that Moscow came unscathed through its fifth successive night of dwindling air attacks and declared the Nazi land assault still was stymied in the last day of its fifth week.

No bombings whatever were reported in last night's Moscow raid which caused an early evening alarm lasting an hour and 15 minutes.

In a communique so nearly like those of the past several days that the German offensive was pictured as held to a standstill, the Red army reported "during last night stubborn fighting continued in the directions of Politsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Zhitomir."

The fighting in the Smolensk area, where the Germans made their deepest thrust toward Moscow, entered its 11th day with the Germans pictured as unable to break through to the east.

"The enemy is suffering heavy losses," the Moscow war bulletin declared. It listed 45 German planes shot down last Saturday.

The Red air fleet continued attacks on German lines and bases, striking yesterday at Nazi mechanized forces near the fighting front, airdromees behind the lines, and the Rumanian Black Sea ports of Constanta and Sulina, the Russians said.

RAF Carries Air Attack to Berlin

LONDON.—(U.P.)— Four-motored bombers carried Britain's ever-intensifying aerial offensive to Berlin last night, the air ministry announced today.

A "small force" of these giant ships conducted the raid on the Nazi capital, which had had no British aerial visitors since June 3, the ministry said. Four motored bombers carry many times the bomb loads of smaller ships.

"Industries and docks at Hanover and Hamburg also were heavily bombed," the ministry's communique said.

The Berlin raid was part of the RAF's program of biting deeper and deeper into Germany as the nights grow longer. The bombers flew 1200 miles to Berlin and back in the mid-summer blackout period of six hours and 45 minutes. As the nights lengthen, the RAF will be able to make longer and more intensive raids. Each additional minute of darkness adds about five miles to its range.

Celebration Caps City-County Pot, Pan Drive Tonight

The city chairman had wagered an old aluminum tea-kettle against a dishpan

The victory celebration will be held today at 7:45 p. m. around the huge pile of aluminum near the western entrance to Central park. The American Legion bugle and drum corps, the Marine Corps league and members of the Junior Association of Commerce will take part in the program. Carrigan said that the celebration would be "a celebration" and not a talkfest with several speakers.

Aluminum collected in the huge dump will be moved away for sorting and baling Monday, according to Carrigan. The chairman repeated his statement that no profit will be made by anyone taking part in the drive.

He said that criticism that manufacturers would be given a cheap supply of metal for their own industrial use was ill-founded.

The aluminum will be baled and shipped to manufacturers of a government priority list by local junk dealers who will obtain the maximum price for the metal. The check given for the purchase of the aluminum will be made out to the local aluminum collecting committee of the OPM. Only manufacturers on federal priority lists will receive the aluminum.

Although the aluminum gathered will not be used for the construction of airplanes or other defense equipment, the OPM has announced that the money from it will be used for national defense and that an amount of virgin aluminum equal to that collected will also be released for airplane construction.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 26, 1941.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and be on the lookout for careless drivers who don't read.

Everything is badly twisted—and this is the time of year the Cleveland Indians should be pennant winners.

After hearing a round table discussion by statesmen and educators you begin to get an idea that you're not the only one who doesn't understand the international situation.

An Incident of War

THE REALITY of war was brought closer to the Mansfield area this week when a huge bombing plane crashed to earth in an adjoining county and dashed two pilots to flaming death.

This was one of the fighting planes built in the United States as a part of this country's aid-to-Britain program, and a similar plane met disaster at Dayton yesterday.

While occurrences of this kind so close to home arouse much public interest they must be regarded as merely incidental to the actual horrors of war that are being experienced in England and in many parts of Europe.

Considering the large number of planes, and volume of war equipment, being steadily moved from this country to augment the military strength of Great Britain and other nations combating the Axis powers, it is inescapable that there will be some casualties, although the percentage of safe delivery has thus far been remarkably high.

All defensive steps now being taken by the United States, including proposed extension of the period of selective service, are designed to safeguard this nation against the actual warfare that has been forced upon Great Britain and a number of the once independent European countries by Nazi and Fascist aggression.

However tragic such occurrences may be, it is better that an occasional bombing plane fall into an open field than that these planes should not move by the hundreds to the aid of Britain—and to the defense of our own country.

Defense Production Comes First

DIFFERENCES of opinion have developed in Washington as to the extent to which industrial production of consumer goods must be reduced in order to meet all requirements for manufacture of defense materials.

Apparently without full consideration of all phases of the matter, it was at first indicated that output of automobiles and several other consumer commodities would be cut 50 per cent.

This met objection as being unnecessarily drastic and likely to result in much unemployment in the fields of production and distribution.

While first consideration must be given to defense production, in whatever volume is essential to quickest possible defeat of the Axis powers, it appears that this should be accomplished with as little disarrangement of commodity production facilities as is practicable.

There will be continued need for large quantities of consumer goods of all kinds in this country and threatened shortage of supplies, without effective price control, could quickly develop a serious situation that may now be avoided by intelligent handling.

Less Jay-Walking In Cleveland

A CAMPAIGN recently started in Cleveland to stop jay-walking is turning out better than was expected. Police were not sure that the public, and particularly the offending pedestrians, would support the idea.

They have had a pleasant surprise. Citizens on foot accepted the fact that it was all for their own good and paid more attention to cross walks and traffic lights than ever before. The few who were given tickets were contrite about their mistakes rather than indignant at the officer who called them to account.

Most surprising development of all was the sudden blooming of good feeling between motorists and pedestrians. The former showed more consideration at those right-hand turns which have always worried pedestrians. And the pedestrians, themselves under the traffic department's watchful eye, began to understand the motorist's problems as they had not done before.

Perhaps the time was ripe for this sort of teamwork between users of the streets and the police who guard them. The co-operation may become a habit.

More Studying Spanish

PROSPECT of closer association between the United States and the Latin-American countries of the Western Hemisphere is giving further impetus to the study of Spanish in this country, with likelihood that this will soon progress to the point of creating a shortage in qualified teachers of that language.

With Spanish as the official language in Mexico and in all South American countries except Brazil, where Portuguese is given the preference, it seems quite likely that a working knowledge of Spanish will open the way to many jobs within the next few years.

From a practical standpoint it may appear that study of Spanish has present advantages over either German or French, among the modern languages, and that Latin and Greek may well be confined to the special needs of students preparing for some one of the several professions in which they are helpful.

Hillbillies Invite Vacationers

NOVELTY is not lacking in this happy vacation land. The hillbillies are opening their hills to summer tourists with a freedom unknown in the old days of moonshine and "revenuers." There is at least one spot, a travel agent advises, where the vacationer can "get to a mountain still and do a little moonshinin' at his own risk." For some reason, known only to those who delve into the vagaries of the American mind, the place is called a "hillbilly dude ranch." Instead of cowboys, the scenery is adorned with people closely resembling the Mountain Boys.

It may sound a little "phony" and like the staging of a Hollywood film. And some of it probably is. But the scenery, the air, the horseback riding, the mountain trails, good food and other attractions, are all real. The "ranch" is in the Great Smokies and should be just the thing for tourists who like local color, real or faked. Furthermore, there's plenty of the real thing for those who prefer nature and natives without hokum.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the nicest letters I ever received from anybody was from Suzanne Silvercruys...She wrote it sometime in the late 1930's. War hadn't been declared....She was in Switzerland....Before that, she had been in her native Belgium....I have seen her off and on since then—presenting a bust of Prime Minister Churchill here, undraping a statue there....Yesterday I got around to dropping by her studio in the Hotel des Artistes, which is high and far above Central Park, and when I walked in she said, "I have finished something new." . . . Suzanne always is finishing something new . . . One day it will be a bust of some national hero, the next a book on the ABC's of sculpturing.

This newest achievement was a portrait bust of Lewis Douglas which she has just completed for McGill University in Montreal. In his academic robes and mortarboard hat Douglas looks quite different from the aggressive personality one remembers him as when he served as director of the budget during Roosevelt's first administration. It is the softening touch so noticeable in Suzanne's work, and so admirable, that is characteristic.

After all, during the first World war, she was hustled to America as a very young girl, and she toured the country making speeches and giving her version of what fate would await Belgium if the invaders were not stopped. Though, or because of, this ordeal she has learned a lot about compassion, and she came out of it with an abiding respect for other people's feelings. . . . I often think this feeling is reflected in her work . . . Suzanne Silvercruys is a young woman with a profound belief in the fundamental goodness of human nature.

DICK MANEY, Broadway bard, is writing a book on his Broadway experiences, the probable title to be "Off Stage Noise."

Complimentary tickets to the Polo Ground, if you can obtain them, cost you 25 cents tax . . . But tickets to Ebbets Field, where the Dodgers play, cost half a dollar . . . "Well," explains Larry MacPhail, in a defensive mood, "the Dodgers are pennant contenders. The Giants are only in third place."

The decision to place half a dozen sea-lions in the Rockafeller Center Plaza pool was a big winner . . . It has proved the greatest crowd-gatherer since Balbo flew over Manhattan with his squadron of seaplanes, en route to Italy from Chicago.

Pro and Con of Daylight Saving

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It was generally overlooked, but behind the president's recommendation to congress for legislation to permit the president to establish regional or general daylight saving for all or any part of the year is a plan to circumvent one of the major political explosions of the whole of national defense legislation.

In World War I, congress and the nation paused in its entire defense effort to wage one of its bitterest battles over whether we should or shouldn't have universal daylight saving.

Every time congressmen have made faces at the clock in the present defense effort, there have been little whirlwinds of criticism and debate all over the land.

Why?

Because the controversy over daylight saving is a fight between farm communities and the large urban and industrial centers. Even some of the most vigorous advocates of universal daylight saving will admit that the farmer has a justifiable gripe. And on the other hand, some of the outstanding opponents confess that daylight saving in some areas probably is a good thing.

It undoubtedly does save electricity. According to the Federal Power Commission, national daylight saving would conserve more than 736,000,000 kilowatt-hours a year. It gives the factory workers on one or two shifts more working daylight. For many workers, even those working overtime, it provides leisure daylight hours. These arguments are pretty well established.

Farm Routine Rigid.

BUT what it does to the farmer is something else again. In farm communities, where the working day is from dawn to dark and there is very little waking time between, its saving in electricity (or oil for the lamps) is negligible. On the other hand, if the farmer tries to adjust himself to it, he finds that his stock won't go along with him. Chickens, sows, turkeys and pigs, eat and sleep by the sun — and the farmer regulates his hours accordingly. Also, dew doesn't come or disappear by any man-made time. And the hour when the farmer can go into the fields for working crops and for harvest is determined by summer dews. If he can't get there until noon by the clock, he has the further delay of stopping to feed the hired hands. Come supper time the farmer's "afternoon" is hardly half over.

At any rate, those are the arguments. They are the same used 23 years ago on both sides. There have been several bills on daylight saving pending in congress for months. It looked as if none had a ghost of a chance, at least not without kicking up such a fuss that "national unity" would have looked like a free-for-all.

So what happens? The administration tosses in its own bill and if it isn't politically foolproof, it at leasts skirts the danger zones and leaves clear lanes in which administration leaders can argue down the most violent of the farm belt opponents.

Possible Exceptions.

THE administration — backed by those powerful agencies of electrical power and national defense, the Federal Power Commission, the Department of the Interior, and the Office of Production Management—asks only that the president be permitted to determine in what areas daylight saving shall be installed.

The president's message to congress, asking for the legislation, included the FPC's tables on possible power savings and the tables show that the least —(far the least)—saving would be effected in the plains states and the Pacific northwest. That includes a lot of farm land and a lot of farmers and the implication that daylight saving would not be so necessary in these areas is bound to shush a lot of bitter argument that came out in the first daylight saving fracas.

Some observers already are saying that the administration has turned up another legislative trump and an ace at that, for since 1918, the Battle of the Clocks is one no other administration has dared get mixed up in.

Listen World!

Keeping the Faith

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

(Dedicated to all the simple, unadvertised citizens who are keeping America going by sticking to the job while the Pushers and Peevers monopolize the spotlight. Hats off! You're elected! Come 'n' get it, Regular Guys!)

EXCUSE me while I change my shirt. No, lady, you needn't arch an eyebrow. I admit the foregoing paragraph may not check with Emily Post but it's strictly within the rules of the game as we're playing it these days. For we've gone in for cattle, up here on the ranch. And if you don't want to change your shirt after handling a herd of white-faced huskies under a 110-degree sun, you're either simple minded or a public health menace.

Hard, hot job, wrangling cattle. No chance to worry over your personal problems. All you need to think about is ten or twelve hours of hitting the trail . . . hours that send you and your horse home, ridged with sweat, caked with red clay, stiff from bucking the chaparal. And many a time, during that homeward hike, you cuss the luck that made you turn to cows.

Yet even as you cuss, there are compensations . . . half felt, but healing, in your tired mind. Dusk now. Quail calling. Dust billowing in golden puffs under your pony's tired hoofs. Somewhere distantly, youngsters laugh . . . a new calf bawls.

The scent comes, sharp and sweet, from new-cut alfalfa piles. The turkeys bundle, yeeping, in the low scrub oak branches. The supper smoke rises in a thin, blue line against the massed dark shadow of the pine. Hair slicked down smooth with water, presently you come limping in, to find the comfort of boiled beef and "sody biscuits," coffee, turnip greens and fresh-baked apple pie, spread on a red-check table cloth.

Old sound, old smells, old chores and sweat—I think they are the richest treasure we have in America today. They were the sounds and smells and deeply hidden hopes from which America sprang. The love of men for their hard-earned land. Their pride in their families and homes. The loyalty to their jobs. The secret, guarded fury for their country's safety. These are the things that made America . . . and will save America if it is to be saved.

For these things are going on today, as they have always been going on. Only most of us don't realize it.

BUT WE FORGET THAT, BEHIND ALL THE SPOTLIGHT AND THE STRUTTING, THE REAL AMERICANS ARE STILL CARRYING ON.

They are carrying on, those Americans, in nooks and corners you seldom remember. In dingy short-order restaurants. In lonely desert shacks . . . and equally lonely city flats. On flat cars, rattling over the mesa . . . and schooners oozing down on the delta tide. By days they work in the cotton or the sugar beets . . . wading from fishing boats . . . standing over sinks . . . heaving cargoes . . . hushing tired babies. They have no articulate thoughts, those workworn Americans. They never think of themselves in heroic terms. No front page will ever carry their names. But, by their quiet decency and devotion, they are keeping America a Going Business. And as surely as it was written of a great saint, it shall be written of them:

"They have fought a good fight; they have finished their course; they have kept the faith. Henceforth, there is laid up for them a crown of righteousness."

Timely Editorial

Don't Desert Your Pets.

From the stray department of the Ellin Prince Speyer Hospital for Animals, with its cages and stalls filled with deserted dogs and cats, I write to beg prospective vacationers not to leave their pets unprovided for.

Don't believe the comfortable theory that dogs and cats can take care of themselves. Very few can. They starve, they are maimed by cruel boys and speeding cars, they give birth to sickly young and increase the problem of humane societies.

When you load up the car for your summer trip, put the family dog and cat (each wearing a leash to guard against accidents) in with the luggage. If you have a cottage of your own there will be nothing to worry about, and many hotels and boarding houses are hospitable to pets if they are well-trained and kept within bounds.

If you cannot do this, and don't care to board your pets in a reliable place during your absence, take them or send them to the nearest humane agency. Don't turn them out to shift for themselves.—New York Sun.

This Is Ohio

Lotteries were fairly common in the early days of Ohio.

The journal of one of the first legislatures records that a long petition was presented by citizens of Chillicothe urging authorization of a lottery enterprise, the object of which was the raising of $3,000 for a Presbyterian church. It failed of passage.

In 1807, the legislature enacted a law prohibiting all lotteries not specifically authorized by act of the general assembly. On one occasion the legislature granted a lottery for the relief of Elisha Barrett, a Lancaster man whose woolen mill had burned. It was conducted by a committee of three men—Jacob Claypool, John Creed and Samuel McCracken.

Grab Bag

One-Minute Test.

1. Can a person who is not a citizen of the United States be guilty of treason to that country?
2. What is the correct plural of teaspoonful?
3. What islands were once known as the "Spice Islands"?

Words of Wisdom.

We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths; in feelings, not in figures on the dial; we should count time by heartthrobs. He most lives who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best.—Bailey.

Hints on Etiquette.

A man should take off his hat when he is in a club, hotel or apartment house elevator. It is not necessary for him to do so in the elevator of a store or business building, as they are public places. If he prefers to do so, however, the courteous gesture is appreciated.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. Yes, an alien may commit treason since if domiciled in a country he owes it a local and temporary allegiance in return for the protection he receives.
2. Teaspoonfuls. To say teaspoonsful implies that more than one teaspoon is used.
3. The Netherland Indies, which yield about 85 per cent of the world's supply of pepper.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Move to Extend Draftee Service; President Asks Emergency Action

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A YEAR ago no one could foretell the course of the European war or whether this nation's peril would rise or fall. For that reason a provision was written into the Selective Service Act permitting congress to declare a national emergency and keep draftees in the army for longer than a year.

Monday President Roosevelt told congress, "The international situation is not less grave but is far more grave than it was a year ago" and that "the danger to American safety . . . is infinitely greater."

Not only did he propose that an emergency be declared and present draftees be kept under arms but that, "because of the swiftness of modern events," the law be revoked which limits to 900,000 the number of selectees that can be enrolled in any one year.

'Time Counts'—FDR.

The theme of his message was that "time counts." He said the army would begin to disintegrate in two months unless congres acted.

The pains that Mr. Roosevelt took to underscore his belief that events have "brought the issue of Nazi domination closer to this hemisphere" were considered to some extent an acknowledgment of strong opposition in congress to his proposal.

The objection most frequently voiced is that it would be breaking faith with the draftees to keep them in the army longer than a year. The president answered it would be a worse "act of bad faith toward our neighbors (of the Western Hemisphere) to weaken our army at this particular time."

General Marshall, army chief of staff, reported an organized effort by "countless outside forces," which he did not identify, to get draftees to petition congress against extending service. Marshall described this as dangerous sabotage.

Senate Okays Property Draft.

A draft of another sort—seizure of private property needed for defense—got a quick approval in the senate. The bill, which went to the house, permits the president to take over needed tools or materials if the owners won't let them go voluntarily, but even then "just compensation" must be made.

OPM said production of combat planes had increased between 92 and 146 per cent, for various types of planes, from January to June, but Rear Admiral John H. Towers complained that the navy's aviation and ordnance programs had been set back by emphasis on the building of land bombing planes.

OPM said it had met the threat of a power shortage in the Northeast, Southwest and South by setting up three gigantic power pools.

At Home

Scrimp, Scrimp, Scrimp!

In the Kitchen—OPM officials figured that defense industries need at least 20,000,000 more pounds of aluminum than are available from regular sources. Thus 20,000,000 pounds was the goal of a nation-wide door-knocking campaign to collect aluminum.

The housewife's discarded kitchenware made up the bulk of the mounting scrap piles. So enthusiastic was the response that officials of the Office for Civilian Defense said the final return might double the original goal.

At the Filling Station—Secretary of Interior Ickes called for a one-third voluntary reduction of gasoline consumption in the East.

Ickes met wth oil company officials and asked that they build a $70,000,000 pipe line system and 50 high speed tankers.

In the Auto Factories—Price Administrator Henderson asked a 50% cut in auto production. OPM Director Knudsen let it be known Henderson had not consulted him beforehand, and warned that such a cut should be made gradually to prevent widespread unemployment.

F.D.R. Won't 'Pull a Wheeler.

American eyes were strained all the more intensely in the direction of the Spanish and Portuguese Atlantic islands with a warning by Acting Secretary of State Welles that Germany is planning military moves against some of the remaining free nations of Europe.

Welles refused to give details but said the government had evidence Germany planned new aggression.

The Spanish and Portuguese islands and French Africa would furnish stepping stones towards the Western Hemisphere.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) contended the president was basing his policy on the opinions of "a motley crew" or advisers. Mr. Roosevelt explaining why he would not disclose future troop movements, said he didn't want to "pull a Wheeler." He was referring to Wheeler's advance disclosure that troops were on the way to Iceland.

Barter With Russia.

Aid to Britain took the shape of a $425,000,000 RFC loan secured by British investments in this country. Loan Administrator Jones said he believed earnings from the investments would pay off the loan in 15 years. The loan was to cover about half the amount of contracts made before the lease-lend program. Jones disclosed that a virtual swap of Russion minerals for American munitions was under consideration.

Abroad

Day-to-Day Policy.

Real purpose of the recent shake-up of the Japanese cabinet, Chinese journalists at Hongkong heard, was to tear up the embarrassing neutrality pact with Russia simply by dropping overboard the man who arranged it, Foreign Minister Matsuoka.

His successor in the new Konoye cabinet was a naval expert, Vice Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, whose views were little known though he had been serving as Minister of Commerce and Industry.

The 55-year-old Toyoda's career began as a naval attache to the London embassy. In a vague statement he said Japan's future foreign policy might have to be adapted to the "day-to-day international situation."

Sluggish Blitz.

The Germans' fifth week against Russia was up this week-end. They could show for their trouble an occupied area somewhat larger than France, but only about one thirty-eighth of sprawling U.S.S.R.

Nazi spokesmen insisted that the conquest of Russia was not a question of occupying territory but rather of destroying the Red Army before it could retreat fairly intact behind the Urals.

Despite checks to Germans, DeWitt Mackenzie, news analyst, believed the Russian line was pushed back in so many areas that widespread Russian withdrawals were necessary to straighten the line and reform fresh defenses farther east.

Heavy incendiary air raids were made in an attempt to burn out Moscow as Premier Joseph Stalin personally took over charge of the Soviet defense.

Victory vs. Viktoria.

Millions of Europeans in occupied nations are in a desperate frame of mind. The Nazis know this when they hold offers for collaboration before them.

Britain's psychologists long have been studying ways to make sure these oppressed people remain Britain's silent allies.

The now-celebrated "V-for-victory" campaign is described by them as but the first of a series of experiments to harass the Germans and to test the readiness of peoples of occupied countries "to accept leadership from London."

Months ago the campaign got off to a quiet start.

By last week-end it had produced the greatest propaganda battle of the war.

Germans first showed signs of being flabbergasted. Propaganda Minister Goebbels chose to try to head off the swelling campaign by clasping it to his bosom as his own. Nazis splattered the walls in occupied cities with millions of V's, saying they stood for the German "Viktoria."

Soon Nazis admitted they were pretty tired of the whole business. London heard that 6,000 V cases had been prosecuted in Paris.

People

Welles Looks Ahead.

At the conclusion of the World war, President Wilson fought for a League of Nations as a basis for lasting peace. The Senate refused to ratify the covenant.

Other powers went ahead with the League. Came wars, and it all but fell apart. Its last political gasp came in December, 1939, when at the request of Finland, Soviet Russia was voted out. This year only four nations have paid dues.

On Tuesday, Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles declared that a post-war "association of nations" was the ideal for which "peoples of good will" should strive.

Welles advanced these thoughts: (1) that no real disarmament can ever be achieved unless some form of international supervision and control be provided; (2) that any lasting peace would have to be predicated upon establishment, "fully and adequately," of the natural rights of all peoples to equal economic enjoyment.

In Short

Passed: A bill setting up a special police force to investigate sabotage and espionage in navy yards and stations, by the senate.

Set Up: Fair rent committees in 21 communities, to investigate increases and publicize the facts where increases prove unwarranted.

Refused: By the Federal Communications Commission, a request of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association that the FCC terminate its investigation of ownership of radio stations by newspapers. The ANPA called the move illegal.

Completed: Action on the $3,529,200,000 tax bill, stiffest in history, after three months of work, by the house ways and means committee. Nearly three-quarters of the amount will come from direct taxes on individuals and corporations.

Quotes

Senator Barkley, Democratic leader: "If war is a lost resort, I will not shun it."

Major General Swift, commander of the First Cavalry Division, in banning ice cream and soft drink trucks from the desert maneuver area in Texas: "If the soldiers eat the Army ration, they can take this hard work, but they can't do it on ice cream and pop."

Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. James Bryant when the '37 club held a "Dutch" party at the home of Mrs. Adams on Route 30-N, this week. A chicken dinner, served country style, was enjoyed by the group. On Aug. 14, Mrs. Kenneth Badgley will entertain the group at her new home on Fairview avenue.

CHURCH GROUP HOLDS MEETING

NORTH LIBERTY—The Women's Service Christian society held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Cora Arnold Thursday. Fifteen members were present.

Devotional service was lead by the president, Mrs. Fern Frasher. Plans were made for the making of rugs to be sold later by the society.

The next meeting will be held in August at the home of Mrs. Alva Betchel.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, July 27.

Sunday's horoscope presages much liveliness and stirring about, probably in connection with public service, or group or community welfare. This interest may inspire over-expansive, extravagant or too generous ideas, with tendency to exaggerate, plunge and take long chances. This might beget legal entanglements or possibly domestic of affectional inharmony or misunderstandings. With economy and conservatism there may be surprising benefits and gain: Write, travel.

Those whose birthday it is may reap some unforseen benefits by handling their resources, energy, time and strength with conservatism, moderation, sound principles and common sense, shunning extravagance, indulgence, exaggeration and gambling. Litigation may threaten from indiscretions in such direction.

A child born on this day may have much versatility and originality, dealing successfully with collective or public activities, although prone to extravagance, unwarranted generosity and optimism, which might bring it to the brink of anti-social behavior.

For Monday, July 28.

Monday's astrological forecast is for much satisfaction and success of a stable and enduring nature, coming not only through sound sense, industry and application, but by daring to be original, to introduce fresh, novel and untried or experimental techniques to possibly static, lagging or crystallized conditions. Constructive measures of manipulating uncommon ideas, even peculiar notions, should command the support of the public, elders, superiors or large corporations, with surprising results and increased personal possessions and prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which to demonstrate some of their original ideas, unusual concepts or inventions, by practical and constructive methods, sound reasoning and good judgment as well as by unique or unprescedented ways and means. This should win the cooperation of elders, superiors, the public and those in position to furnish capital for promotion or experiment. Results should be a stability of the fortunes, with accumulated property and possessions as well as increased prestige and recognition.

A child born on this day should have many phases of talent and ability, sound and constructive as well as unique, original and exceptional. It will be intellectual, noble and aspirational as well as practical and should have success in life.

FUNERAL TODAY

GALION — Funeral services were held in Springfield today for the former Edna Bethel, 54, who died Wednesday in a Cincinnati hospital.

THEATERS

Training Camp Comedy.

Bob Hope as a gun-shy actor creates a riot in "Caught in the Draft," a conscription comedy showing at the Ohio, when he attempts to prove that he has the stuff of which hero's are made. His inspiration for these maneuvers is Dorothy Lamour as the colonel's daughter who starts her own campaign to make Hope a hero. Lynne Overman and Eddie Bracken as Hope's stooges help him in his strategy that takes in everything from potato-peeling to parachute jumping. Clarence Kolb plays the colonel.

Waterfront Comedy.

San Pedro's picturesque Fish Harbor furnishes the locale for "Barnacle Bill," Wallace Berry's starring vehicle at the Madison. Playing the role of a waterfront character who is confronted with being a father to a motherless daughter he has not seen since babyhood, Berry becomes a hero through championing the rights of the fishermen. Marjorie Main, who appeared with Beery in "Wyoming," plays a rugged daughter of the waterfront and the cast includes Virginia Weidler and Leo Carrillo. "Kisses For Breakfast," with Dennis Morgan and Jane Wyatt is the companion picture.

Murder Mystery.

Cosmos Topper's latest adventures are depicted in "Topper Returns," opening Sunday at the Park with Roland Young in his original role as Thorne Smith's popular character. Motivated in this episode by the sprightly spirit of Joan Blondell, who had met her fate at the unknown hands, Cosmos attempts to solve a murder mystery despite his hindering wife, played by Billie Burke, Dennis O'Keefe, H. B. Warner and from Jack Benny's program "Rochester" are in the cast. John Wayne and Ona Munson appear in "Lady From Louisiana," the second picture.

Small Town Drama.

Roger Pryor has the role of a slick young promoter in "The Richest Man in Town," story of small town life, showing at the Majestic with a cast that includes Frank Craven, Edgar Buchanan and Eileen O'Hearn. His object is to set up a summer theater, get the localities to buy stock and then skip with the funds. Endorsed by Buchanan as a newspaper editor and branded by the village banker, Frank Craven, the young man doesn't find the going easy. "Pirates on Horseback," the second feature has William Boyd in a Hopalong Cassidy role.

Ghost Ship Drama.

"The Sea Wolf," Jack London's tale of a brutal captain and the shanghai crew aboard a ghost ship gives Edward G. Robinson a highly-charged role in the picture opening Sunday at the Ritz. Robinson plays the captain and John Garfield, a member of his crew. The action quickens with the rescue by the ship of a sensitive young man and a girl fleeing from prison and intensifies when the crew decides to do away with the captain. Alexander Knox, Gene Hockhart and Barry Fitzgerald are in the cast. "One Frightened Night," mystery-comedy, is the second picture.

HOLMES YOUTH TAKEN BY DEATH

MILLERSBURG—Funeral services for Joseph Wengerd, jr., 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wengerd, two miles west of Holmesville, who died at Pomerene Memorial hospital Thursday, will be held at the family residence at 2 p. m. Monday. Rev. Sol Schlabach will officiate. Burial will be in the family cemetery.

Besides the parents there survives three brothers, Ezra, Monroe and Eli at the home and six sisters, Fannie, Katie, Mary, Malinda and Edna of the home and Mrs. Matey Chupp of Holmesville.

FINED FOR CONDUCT

GALION — Sylvester Shaad was fined $10 and costs, Friday morning, when he appeared in Mayor W. M. King's court on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

MISS NORMA SHEER TO WED NEXT FRIDAY

Friends Learn of Coming Nuptials of Y. W. C. A. Director at Party Given Last Evening at Ettinger Home In Chagrin Falls.

BEFORE the altar of the Chagrin Falls Federated church Miss Norma Sheer, Mansfield's Y. W. C. A. program director, will exchange nuptial vows with Ivan J. Miklich, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miklich of Cleveland, on Friday evening, Aug. 1. Announcement of the open church wedding was made last evening at a party given in Chagrin Falls by Miss Betty Ettinger. High school and Bowling Green college friends of Miss Sheer and their mothers were invited to the buffet supper and linen shower for the bride-to-be.

Miss Sheer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheer of Chagrin Falls. Mrs. Sheer presided at the table when supper was served. The bride-elect attended Bowling Green college and belonged to the Seven Sister sorority. Mr. Miklich is a student at Bowling Green and will resume his studies there in the fall. Following their wedding the young couple will reside in Cleveland until Sept. 1. At that time Miss Sheer will return to Mansfield to continue her work as program director at the Y. W.

Members Make Hats of Flowers At Garden Meet

Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, 73 Sherman avenue, entertained members of the Cottage Garden club at her home Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. C. Petree assisted the hostess. Twenty-six members were in attendance. Members displayed hats made of flowers during the meeting. Luncheon was served at a long table centered with a straw hat filled with garden flowers.

Mrs. H. G. Miller presented the paper on "Annuals to Be Sown In Autumn." Mrs. S. D. Hoover, Ashland road, will entertain the organization at her home August 8. Members of the Junior Garden club will present the program. Mrs. E. L. Robertson will serve as associate hostess.

ANNUAL PICNIC.

Ladies Auxiliary, 37th Division, A. E. F. Veterans association met Thursday evening at Memorial hall for their regular business meeting. Plans were made for their annual picnic which is being held August 28.

Mrs. C. E. Payne Entertains at Luncheon Friday

A lovely centerpiece of two gold swans and a floral arrangement of pink sweetheart roses and gypsophila were reflected on an attractive mirror when luncheon was served Friday to members of the Linneaus Garden club. Mrs. C. E. Payne of 187 Cline avenue, entertained the group at her home with 12 members and one guest, Mrs. C. D. Daum, present.

Roll call was answered on the theme "Perennials That Bloom In July" and Mrs. Fred Dippman furnished the paper on "Lilies." Mrs. William Fisher presented the flower arrangement which was nasturtiums of red and yellow in a red container. The next meeting of the club will be held Aug. 8 at the home of Mrs. Fred Dippman, Park avenue west road. A luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

Horticulturist Talks to Club Group Friday

Johnny Appleseed Garden club members were taken on a nature walk yesterday morning when John H. Kullman, horticulturist, led the party through the woods on the Black farm, pointing out native trees and describing their growth and care. Mrs. Donald Black, Raemelton House, was hostess for the day to 22 members and one guest, Mrs. Robert VanFossan of Washington, D. C.

Following the program a short business session was held in charge of the president, Mrs. Carl Gibson. The group enjoyed the unusual flower arrangements presented for the day. Two were made by Mrs. Louise Meisse, two by Miss Kathleen Sturges and two by Mrs. Donald Black.

At noon luncheon was served on the terrace. The next meeting will be held Aug. 8 at the home of Mrs. James Eberle, 551 West Townview circle.

Fete Bride-Elect

Mrs. Larry Glover of Loudonville, who before her marriage July 12 was Miss Marjorie M. Bender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bender, Grover street, was feted with a bedroom shower at her home Friday evening. Hostesses were Mrs. R. A. Baker, Mrs. Lucille Walters, Mrs. C. R. Roby, Mrs. Russell Harbaugh and Mrs. Marie McDermott.

During the evening the 12 guests in attendance played games and contests. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with garden flowers. The hostesses presented the honoree with a gift.

Cotton Clothes for Sports Are Comfortable

Maroon and white symphony, or anyway a duet. The girl wears a white cotton dress striped in maroon, a maroon apron striped in white. The masculine interest becomes more interesting in a Sulka pullover, also maroon-striped. White cotton slacks, alligator belt. Both caps are of maroon felt, handy as eye-shades on a blazing tennis court.

Announcement Made of Coming Marriage Here

MISS NORMA CASEY, 97 Dale avenue, has chosen Saturday, Aug. 16 as the date of her wedding, according to announcement made last evening at a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Casey. She will become the bride of Philip Hallabrin, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hallabrin, 127 Gibson avenue, in a quiet service at 4 o'clock at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Howard Walters, 480 South Diamond street.

Twenty-five friends of the bride-to-be were invited to her home Friday night by Mrs. Casey and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Jordan of Loudonville. Bunco was the diversion with score gifts awarded to Miss Elizabeth Snyder and Miss Ruth Jayberg. Miss Frances Miller learned of the coming nuptials first when she discovered a tiny scroll revealing the names and date when she opened a date at the refreshment table.

Luncheon was served at two long tables attractive with appointments in green and yellow. Bouquets of dainty summer flowers and tall lighted tapers centered each table. The hostesses presented Miss Casey with gifts of china. Parties will be given for the bride-elect preceding her marriage.

B. and P. W. Board Has Dinner Party.

Members of the past year's board of directors of the Business and Professional Women's club met for their annual dinner party last evening at Round Lake Inn. A chicken dinner was served at one long table decorated with appointments in the pastel colors and a floral arrangement of glads and pansies. The evening was spent socially.

Those in attendance were Mary Gruber, Marvel Cowell, Nina Pollock, Mildred Perry, who was chairman, Minnie Laudon, Grace Bonnell, Dortha Garver, Marjorie High, Virginia Dye, Clara Miller, Bea Brewer, Falsom Teeters, Irma Augustine, Arta Cairns, Thelma Bogan, Pearl Danbeck, Rachel Shreffler and Faye Cisco.

Astowela Garden Club Has Annual Flower Show

Astowela Garden club members met for their annual flower show Friday morning at the home of Mrs. John Finefrock, Park avenue west. Mrs. Neil Remy was the associate hostess when 16 members and three guests, Mrs. C. L. Taber of Whitman, Mass., Mrs. James Wallace and Miss Myrtle Booth, were in attendance. Mrs. Taber is the house guest of Mrs. Howard Keene, 105 Sherman avenue.

More than 60 displays were exhibited which included unique flower arrangements and many lovely specimen blooms. The flower show which was non-competitive was in charge of Mrs. Dean Rex, Mrs. P. J. Kelley and Mrs. D. C. Lavender.

No program was given at this meeting which was devoted entirely to the floral show. Luncheon was served at noon from an attractively decorated table set with old-fashioned appointments and centered with a pretty arrangement of fuchsia. Mrs. W. G. Black and Mrs. Paul McConnell poured. The next meeting of the club will be held Aug. 8 at the Women's club with Mrs. Charles Sullens and Mrs. H. H. Shaw in charge.

LOVELY GARDENS SCENE OF MEETING

Mansfield Garden Club Holds Open Meet at Glen Vinson Home Friday Evening to Hear Expert In Illustrated Talk.

THE FORMAL GARDENS of Mr. and Mrs. S. Glen Vinson, Glenleigh Farms, Cook road, will be open to the members of the Mansfield Garden clubs and others interested in floral beauty tonight for a special showing. The beautiful Elizabethean gardens were effectively lighted the past two evenings by the Ohio Public Service company especially for an open meeting on Friday of the Mansfield Garden club. The program last night was furnished by Miss Isabel Barry, educational director of the Ohio Public Service company of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinson graciously opened their home and gardens on Thursday evening for a preview showing of the unusual lighting to their friends, and last night the Mansfield Garden club members and their husbands were entertained. Miss Barry gave a most interesting illustrated talk on the lawn of the home using as her subject, "Night Time Beauty in the Garden." She showed colored slides of illuminated gardens in Cleveland and other Ohio cities but none surpassed the impressive display at the Vinson home.

Guests were awed by the first view of the gardens with its wide expanse of lawn on a natural incline, lined with unusual trees of British elms, called Wheatleyi. Under the stately trees with upturned branches small clusters of petunia were growing. It was under these trees that lights threw their soft glow on the reddish purple flowers and pale greenery. At the end of the long expanse of lawn was a lovely pool decorated with colored lights, and illuminated lily pads were floating gracefully through the water. Further down in the garden were other colored lights playing on the floral beds of mixed flowers and at unexpected places were squirrels, cranes and other wooden animals giving their decoration to the place with soft indirect light back of them. The whole effect was breath-taking and truly showed the magic accomplished with light.

After the program and the tour through the gardens the hostesses served refreshments. Assisting Mrs. Vinson were Miss Lillian Dickson, Mrs. Fred Wolf and Mrs. Wallace Campbell. Fifty were in attendance. The next meeting of the club will be held Aug. 8 with Mrs. Louis Olson and members of the executive board in charge for a directors' tea at 3 p. m.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"You're an Indian, Auntie Madge," Mary commented. "You're still not toting any flags for Olina."

"Never mind that now, Mary," I answered. "Let's hear what Olina told you—that is if—"

"If I'm not betraying a confidence," she retorted, and I knew that her gibing was again covering her poignant fear for Noel.

"That Puritan conscience of yours will be your death some day," she went on, "but I can assure you that there's no confidence betrayed unless it's little Stevie's."

"Stephen Redfield!" I exclaimed with astonishment. "Whatever—"

"I thought that would make you sit up and take notice," she said. "But here it is. Olina told me just now that after you came in, Steve came over to her and began to question her, oh, ever so adroitly and carelessly, about you.

"But Olina's nobody's fool, you know," Mary hurried on. "She only listened attentively, and put in a n occasional word to draw him out more. He was apparently careless, but he asked all sorts of questions about you, your family, your disposition, your likes and dislikes, as if he were going to record you on a filing card."

Madge Scents Danger.

"Did Olina have any theory as to why he was questioning her?" I asked.

"She thought it was because she happened to be the nearest person available," Mary retorted, "and she sort of figured he wanted to get a line on you, so he could ask you to bolster up his role with some extra lines—the way old Nancy wanted you to do earlier this evening.

The gibe, for I knew it was that, stilled the answer that I was about to make her. I had meant to say that Stephen Redfield knew Philip Veritzen would never consent to any change in his role, and that his interest in me must stem from something else.

"But I don't think that," Mary went on. "It's all of a piece with—"

The ringing of the telephone cut her conjecture short, and when I took up the receiver, Philip Veritzen's voice came over the wire."

Cannot Find Noel.

"I cannot find Noel anywhere," he said. "I am coming up to the apartment right away."

I put up the receiver and repeated his message to Mary, automatically reaching for my shoes as I did so.

"Leave your slippers on, also your negligee," she commanded. "After all, my papa-in-law has seen nice ladies in all stages of dress—and undress. Besides, he probably is in such a dither that he won't notice what either of us has on."

"But I'll wash my face," she said suddenly, dashing for the bathroom. And I silently agreed that it were best she should remove the evidence of the ribald preparations for a "thrashing" which she had made.

She was barely out again, with her face clean and her coiffure rearranged, when Philip Veritzen's knock sounded on the door.

Mary admitted him, but as he came in, with his usual formal bearing and imperturbable face, I knew from his eyes that he was not really seeing us, but that his whole being was absorbed in worry over Noel.

"Noel was not in the bar," he said abruptly. "Nor had he been there. Neither had anyone seen him leave the hotel. I had some one go up on the roof, but he was not up there. He has not been seen anywhere since the party ended. I came up to see if you Mary, had any idea where he could have gone."

Steve Redfield Phones.

I watched him carefully as he spoke to her, to see if he betrayed any resentment against her for her part in driving Noel to frenzy. I should have been ready to battle for her if he had shown rancor, remembering his own long persecution of his son, not so many years ago. But there was only anxiety in his voice, which Mary's answer did nothing to allay.

"I can't think of a single place," she said despondently.

The shrilling of the telephone punctuated her answer, and when I answered it I was glad of my life-long training against shock. For this masculine voice on the line said insistently:

"This is Stephen Redfield, Mrs. Graham. Will it be possible for you to see me for just a mintue? You are alone, aren't you?"

Shipboard Romance + + + + + +

CHAPTER XVIII

Doris could not reply. She looked at Jimmy calmly. She seemed to have no heart, no brain. She stood as immovable as a statue.

Jimmy avoided her eyes as he said, "Did you hear me, Doris?"

"Yes, I heard you. You said our marriage is off"

"I'm sorry . . . he began.

"It's all right," she told him in a frozen voice. "May told me"

"May told you!" he said, surprise in voice and manner. "Then you understand why it's quite impossible."

"Oh yes! I understand."

So May had won after all. How little faith Jimmy had in her. The lie had won over love. Jimmy had actually believed that she was marrying him for his money.

If Doris had cherished any remaining doubt as to his reason, it was dispelled when he said quietly, "There's nothing, it seems, a woman won't do for money — nothing too low or cheap."

This was more than Doris could bear. His bitterness seared her heart. Blinded by tears, she ran back to her cabin and flung herself upon her bed. His voice followed her. That quiet ironic voice: "There's nothing a woman won't do for money. Nothing too low or cheap . . ." That was what Jimmy Allen thought of her. He believed the malicious lie his "old friend" May Whittier had told him.

Jimmy, her Jimmy! This man whose face expressed such a bitter hatred that she could not believe it was the same lovable companion of yesterday. Overnight he seemed to have aged years. The Jimmy she had known had been trusting, confiding, gay. Now he had turned away from her, moody and suspicious. Would he go back to his old life as a playboy? Would her efforts to persuade him to take an interest in the business his grandfather had left him be in vain? She had told herself that Jimmy was potentially a fine man. When he fell in love with her, she had given him new hope for the future. Now that hope was shattered.

Doris felt that she had reached the limit of human endurance. She could not force herself to go back on deck, to go into the dining saloon, into the lounge. She could not bear to be followed by George Malone; to be forced to witness Jimmy's coldness; to see May hanging on to his arm with that maddening possessive air which had surprised her in Rio. May had won! But Doris could not force herself to watch the triumph.

She undressed and slipped into her bed. In vain she attempted to read a mazagine; the words were meaningless. The jumbled letters always spelled Jimmy Allen. When she thought of him such sharp pain welled up in her heart that it all but suffocated her. She had thought she had pride and self-control, but she seemed to have neither at her command.

At noon the stewardess brought her a luncheon tray but Doris looked at the tempting food without appetite.

"You'd better eat something," the stewardess urged.

"I can't," Doris protested, new tears welling into her eyes.

The stewardess' hard face softened at the girl's grief. "Don't let it get you down, honey," she advised. "These shipboard romances seldom work out. I've been on this line for fifteen years and it's always the some old thing. Somebody's heart is always being broken."

Doris realized with a pang of humiliation that every one on the ship must know about her shattered romance with Jimmy. Word seemed to spread like wildfire and each person would enlarge upon the gossip with additional details. Room stewards had a way, when passing doors, of picking up bits of private conversation.

The stewardess unfolded a napkin and handed it to Doris. "Try to eat a little dear. You'll feel better."

Doris took her fork and made a brave effort.

"You'll be all right when you get home," the stewardess told her confidently. "You'll forget all this in a couple of weeks."

"I'll never forget," Doris thought that afternoon as she lay quietly turning over in her mind the chain of events that had wrecked her romance. And there was yet another milestone ahead of her. When they reached New York she would got to the police about George Malone. True, he would probably have disappeared, escaped, but at least she would do her duty by reporting him. Sooner or later they would apprehend him. And Doris was determined not to cause a scene on the boat. She would not do anything until she had seen the last of Jimmy Allen.

What surprised Doris most of all was May Whittier's utter complacency. The girl seemed to have no conscience, no sense of responsibility for the romance she had deliberately ruined.

Doris watched her, that night as she dressed for dinner. May was wearing her most stunning evening gown, a chiffon of soft green. She applied her make-up carefully, and touched the lobes of her ears with perfume. Doris knew that the preparations were all made with Jimmy in mind. She wondered dully if May would succeed in winning his admiration. Could he possibly even fancy himself in love again after his last two experiences?

"I suppose you'll be glad to leave the ship," May said cattily.

"You can't imagine how much!" Doris assured her.

May dabbed a powder puff across her forehead. "It's too bad you wasted so much money—for nothing."

Doris did not want to argue with her. It seemed loathsome and cheap but she could not refrain from saying, "Why don't you leave Jimmy alone, May?"

"Why should I?"

"He's had enough trouble. Don't you think he deserves an even break once in his life?"

"I suppose you would be giving him that!"

Doris clutched her magazine fiercely. "Yes, I would—if you'd give me half a chance. You've turned him against me now. Isn't that enough? Aren't you satisfied?"

"Is it any of your business at this point?" May inquired coldly.

"Yes," Doris cried, "because I love him and you don't! The least you can do is let him alone!"

"Don't you think that's up to Jimmy?"

"If he knew the truth—Doris began, but May's laughter stopped her.

"Why don't you tell him?"

"You know he wouldn't believe me. For some strange reason he thinks you're sincere."

May surveyed herself in the mirror. "I'll handle this in my own way."

"Oh yes!" Doris blazed. "And you'll wreck his life too. You don't love him and you know it."

"I repeat, it's none of your business," May said airily and swept from the cabin.

Doris sank back on her pillow furious and defeated. It was bad enough to lose Jimmy without having to stand by and see him fall into the clutches of May Whittier. But she was powerless. It seemed that she was powerless at every turn. Unable to save herself or him. The web of circumstances, vicious lies, had drawn itself tightly about her. There was no escape.

Doris had scarcely laid aside her supper tray when there was a light knock upon the door. Without waiting for permission, George Malone stepped into the cabin.

"What do you want?" Doris cried sharply. "How dare you come in here?"

"Don't get excited. I just wanted to have a friendly little chat with you, that's all."

"Well, what is it now?" Doris said. Her voice was so full of bitterness that it did not sound like her voice at all.

"What are your plans now?" Malone inquired, sitting down in the big chair and helping himself to one of May's cigarets.

Doris replied coldly. "I'm going to Detroit, of course, and if I'm lucky, back to Klanc's basement."

"You needn't, you know. I don't like to see my daughter working in a place like that." His sarcastic pretense infuriated her.

"I don't think you'll be in a position to say anything about what I do."

Doris realized that she was talking too much, but in her anger and confusion words spilled out.

"If you have any intention of turning me over to the police, you'd better think again," Malone advised.

"I'm not afraid of you," Doris said. "There's nothing more you can do to me."

Malone rose. "Take a friendly tip, Doris. Don't do anything you may regret. If you do, I promise you you'll be sorry."

"I'm not afraid of you," Doris said boldly.

"Maybe not for yourself, but there's Jimmy Allen . . . For his sake, I'd advise you to keep your mouth shut."

"You wouldn't dare . . ."

He laughed as he opened the door. "You underestimate me, my dear, I assure you."

* * *

Doris pressed her hands to the temples of her aching head. A feeling of impending tragedy obsessed her. Could there by any good end to this chain of events?

"He's bluffing," Doris told herself, trying to discount Malone's threat against Jimmy. But what if he were not? Could she take a chance?

Grimly Doris spent the evening in bed, imagining May Whittier dancing with Jimmy, smiling up into his handsome face, telling him to "cheer up," being the "friend in need." Drawing him closer by a pretense of understanding.

"Courage!" Doris told herself desperately. "I must have courage."

The ship ploughed steadily on towards New York, carrying four people among its passengers whose destinies seemed hopelessly tangled. Yet each would find a separate answer to life when the ship docked.

But Doris was without hope. In losing Jimmy Allen she had lost her world.

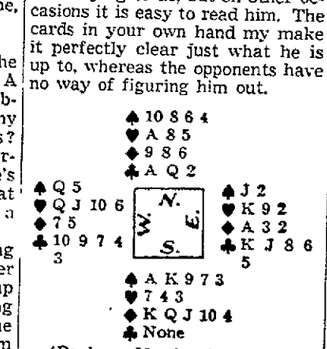
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

EASY TO READ HIM

Sometimes you will have a partner who indulges in monkeyshines of all kinds, in the play as well as the bidding. That may not be the best kind of winning bridge, but it certainly is a great tonic to keep you from going to sleep. There are times when you can't figure out what in blazes he holds, or is trying to do, but on other occasions it is easy to read him. The cards in your own hand my make it perfectly clear just what he is up to, whereas the opponents have no way of figuring him out.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
5 ♣	Pass	6 ♠	Pass

North had no trouble at all in guessing the significance of his partner's 4-Heart bid. The side was not using any artificial bidding except cue-bidding to show aces. So when South showed the ace of the heart suit which North himself held, North knew his partner was indulging in an untruth. It was easy for North to see what lead South was trying to cause. It could hardly be clubs, considering his own holding, so must be diamonds.

To help steer the lead where South wanted it, North cue-bid his club ace at five, and South thereupon hopped at once to slam. West was a player who is known to believe everything he hears, so he led the suit in which the opponents had not shown the ace, diamonds. East won this and returned another diamond to South. The trumps were dropped in two lucky rounds, and the diamonds were run for two heart discards from dummy. The heart A, club A for one heart discard from South, a ruffed club and a ruff of South's last heart followed, the hand finishing with South's trumps.

If South had bid naturally, West would have led a heart to the A. The club A would have brought one heart discard, but when a diamond then got lost to the A, the setting heart trick could have been taken by the opponents.

Your Week-End Lesson.

How are you on your mathematics of probabilities? Do you know how to figure the odds for and against various developments? Suppose, for instance, four evenly matched players set down together to play 20 rubbers, pivoting after each rubber. What are the chances that some particular one of those players will win all 20 consecutive rubbers? In the normal course of events, if a player takes part in an average of eight rubbers a week, how long should it be before he ever wins 20 rubbers in succession against players of equal skill?

Braves Drop Thriller to Lima Pandas In Ten Stanzas

Sport Podge by REX HESS

The Mansfield Braves and Mansfield baseball fans did their bit for national defense last night by contributing a large pile of aluminum ware which some day will be flying around in the air as part of Uncle Sam's war planes.

Just the largest crowd of the season saw the Braves go down to defeat in 10 innings before the Lima Pandas, and a large part of the crowd of 843 persons brought their bits of aluminum to help out the ball club's donation of this valuable defense material.

Joe Donnelly, president of the Ohio State league, was in the stands, checking up on the work of Umpires Bulmon and Watkins, and as luck would have it Bulmon and Watkins turned in a good night's work.

If Joe could find the time to follow them around the circuit every night, it might not be necessary for the league to go through its announced intention of tying the can to these two arbiters.

And then again it might have been the sight of that pile of pots and pans that put the arbiters on their mettle. Such a nice stack of throwing material it was. And since it was ladies' night there were plenty of experienced pot and pan hurlers in the crowd.

* * *

My sports desk assistant, Bob Huffman, is a guy who gets up early in the morning to listen to the radio.

And he tells me that this morning one Cleveland announcer dedicated a recording to the Cleveland Indian base runners.

The name of the piece: "Let's Dream This One Out."

He could just as well have dedicated the same number to any pair of waltzing boxers.

* * *

WHAT'S THE WORLD COMING TO DEPARTMENT—After Findlay defeated Fostoria, 7 to 1, a crowd collected around Umpires Bendigo and Ward and congratulated them on the swell job they had done. The umps were struck speechless. Unless this dangerous and subversive trend is halted, the first thing you know Jimmy Dykes will be saying a kind word about an umpire.

Whirly Gets New Jockey

Track Champ Faces Jinx at Arlington.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Whirlaway and a strange jockey awaited the call to the post today for a race that has been rough on champions —the Arlington Classic stakes.

A forecast of clear, warm weather gave promise of a fast track for the classic, expected to draw 40,000 spectators. Post time was 4:45 p. m. (EST.)

Six others were named for the $60,000 classic with the Calumet star a probable 1 to 6 favorite, but Whirly's old tendency to run wild at the stretch turn, plus the factor of carrying Albert Shelhamer instead of Eddie Arcaro, who rode him to the Kentucky Derby, Peakness and Belmont victories, created an element of uncertainty.

The classic itself was enough to give Whirlaway the jitters, if he could read. In the past such turf notables as Twenty Grand, Johnstown and Bimelech have been caught in its jinx.

* * *

Five of Whirlaway's opponents were Bushwhacker, Daily Trouble, To a Tee, Attention and Our Boots. The sixth, Blenweed, also a Calumet Farm horse, was entered largely as a pacemaker in case the rest of the field sought to lay back and make Whirly take the lead. Whirlaway has been at his best coming up from behind a brisk pace, even when he runs wide at the last turn.

Th e selection of Shelhamer to ride Whirlaway after Arcaro's suspension in the east was not held of great consequence. The three-year-old king has run and won recently without Arcaro.

TOURNEY CHANGED

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The state professional golfers' association tournament will be held here Aug. 26-27 instead of Aug. 19-20 as originally planned, Bob Gutwein, vice president of the Ohio P. G. A. announced. The tourney was moved back a week, he said, to permit Defending Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, Billy Burke of Cleveland and Al Espinosa of Akron to compete.

Bob Grove Wins 300 Victories

For Today's Contest. Indians Pick Feller

BOSTON—(AP)—Baseball's best pitcher, a 22-year-old, goes to the mound today on a diamond which only yesterday was the scene of an old campaigner's triumph.

the sixth in modern baseball—to Bob (Lefty) Grove won the 300th game of his major league carrer yesterday with a 10 to 6 decision over the Indians. He became the 12th hurler — only the sixth in modern baseball—to reach that milestone, at the age of 41 and after 17 years in the majors.

Bob Feller has 101 to his credit, and is on his way this year to a 30-game season. Grove was the last man to turn that trick, back in 1931 when he was with the Athletics. Feller's season total to date is 19 wins and five losses.

His assignment today is to shorten the Indians' losing streak and lengthen their lead over the third-place Red Sox. The Tribe has lost four in a row, and now has only a four-game margin over the Sox. Feller's pitching opponent is Dick Newsome, an 11-time winner.

In the old days the Pittsburgh Pirates used to roll through the early season like a fast freight and then go into seclusion on a sidetrack at about this time of year.

Fiery Frankie Frisch, if he hasn't accomplished anything else, at least has turned the time-table around so the Pirates now park during the spring and go like lightning during the summer.

They're the hottest things in the National league right now and leaped into third place yesterday by humiliating Brooklyn in both games of a double-header, 8-4 and 8-2.

* * *

This might have been a mortal blow to Brooklyn's pennant ambitions except that the St. Louis Cardinals took this occasion to concede an 8-0 decision to the Boston Braves.

The wins gave the Pirates seven straight victories and 21 in their past 29 contests, while extending the Dodgers' slump to seven defeats in 10 tilts.

The Phillies plopped Cincinnati, 4-3, to drop the Reds to fourth place and squeeze New York into the second division even though the Giants cuffed the Chicago Cubs, 5-2.

The Yankees bombed the Chicago White Sox for an 8-0 triumph behind the three-hit hurling of Spud Chandler and increased their first-place margin to 11 games.

* * *

The surging Philadelphia Athletics won their fifth in a row and sent the Detroit Tigers to their eighth straight defeat, 11-5. Elden Auker's seven-hit pitching stopped the Washington Senators, 5-3, for the St. Louis Browns.

SHELBY MAYOR HOOKS LARGE PICKEREL

SHELBY — Mayor R. W. Morris is telling all his friends today about the big fish he caught in Lake Erie, near Pelee Island, a five pound, three ounce pickerel.

The mayor had to pull the line in by hand because his small reel couldn't handle the big catch.

Young Pros Bid for Cup

Two Tie With Veteran In St. Paul Open.

ST. PAUL Minn. — (AP) — The tournament which has become golf's annual battle royal—the $7,500 St. Paul open championship —headed into its second round at Keller course today, with long-shots tossing their challenge at some of the game's biggest and best known stars.

No fewer than 20 players had sub-par cards to their credit as they swung into the second program of the 72-hole event—a par busting total testifying to the low scoring which marked yesterday's opening skirmish in which a big part of the field was as hot as the 98 degree temperature.

On top were a veteran and two young professionals who have yet to make their mark in major tournament competition—Joe Coria of St. Paul and Gene Battistoni, an assistant pro at Norwood Park, Ill. They had five under par 67's as did Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee, Mass.

Only a stroke off the pace were two well-known veterans, Harry Cooper of Chicago and Ralph Guldahl of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif. Six others were bracketed at 69—Jimmy Hines, Lloyd Mangrum, Horton Smith, Johnny Bulla, Al Huske and Dick Metzwn while there were five players who shot 70's and four others who came in with one under par 71's.

Ben Hogan, the little Hershey, Pa., pro who is the year's leading money winner, was in the 70 bracket. He was considered a virtual cinch to finish in the money for a 52nd straight tourney and extend the most consistent scoring streak the game ever has known.

Byron Nelson, who Thursday turned in a 62 for the best round of his career and a new course record at Inverness, in Toledo, had a 73.

Meders Threaten League Leaders

Golden-Russell won from Bates' Candies 2-1 and tied with DeMilo Salon 1-1. Thelma Linster shot one-over-par 78's in both her matches.

SIGN WITH RAMS

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Two linemen have returned signed contracts to the Cleveland Rams National league Professional Football team, General Manager Billy Evans announced. They were Stan Anderson, first string left tackle for the Rams last year, and Bill Eith of Lorain, a guard on the Carnegie Tech eleven for three seasons.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Those underground reports that the Saratoga gambling spots will be operating full blast next month can not be confirmed . . . Freddie (Red) Cochrane has bet $350 on himself against Fritzie Zivic Monday night at odds of 1-4 . . . All the nationally-known women niblick artists have been invited to play in the Hollywood Beach hotel's annual open tournment for women, January 14-16 . . . Joe DiMaggio will be given a plaque when Jimmy Kelly, Greenwich Village nightspot owner and red-hot sports fan, entertains the village knot-hole gang Monday afternoon . . . Dizzy Dean is having trouble identifying American league players in his St. Louis broadcasts.

THE LABOR FRONT

Fighter Kayo Morgan and his manager, Harry Baxter, are picketing a Windsor (Ont) promoter who dropped Morgan from his card this week . . . One of the placards reads, "Boxing sensation—promoter runs out on fighter" . . . Two years ago Morgan and Baxter picketed Mike Jacobs' office in an attempt to force a fight with Sixto Escobar, then bantamweight champ.

SPORTS COCKTAIL

Believe it or not, but national football league coaches gave Red Friesell, who became famous by that extra down in last year's Cornell-Dartmouth game, 127 out of a possible 130 points in their report on officiating . . . Add oddities: All three games played in the northern league the other day wound up in 2-2 ties . . . Al Weill, one of the smartest of the fight managers, has paid $3,000 for the contract of Jimmy Hatcher, promising 130-pounder from Lakeside, S. C.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Hy Hurwitz, Boston Globe: "Jimmy Dykes furnished the laugh of the day . . . A reporter queried him about the health of one of his convalescing athletes . . . Turning to the suffering bench-warmer, Dykes asked, "when do you think you'll be ready to get hurt again?"

Cobb, Ruth and Tris Team Up

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A bit of baseball brought Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb to join Cleveland's Tris Speaker today, but Cobb and the Babe are not forgetting their golf duel.

All three will participate tomorrow in the 32nd annual amateur day, a festival of the sandlot baseball clubs, with Ruth and Cobb "managing" a couple of teams and Speaker coaching for both sides.

In company with Speaker, the Babe hastened to the Country Club immediately after his arrival yesterday afternoon to "sneak in some practice I need to beat that guy Cobb."

* * *

Each won a match in the east and they will play again in Detroit Monday, all for the benefit of the United Service Organization.

Declaring that Cobb is "a nut about that game," Babe said, "He's too serious for me. Yeah, and he's too slow. Why, in our last match I pulled out a chair on him."

Club League Sees Action

O. P. S. and Schoolmasters Take League Victories.

Four teams swung into action in the Club league last night as the Ohio Public Service bombarded St. Peter's Alumni 21-7, and the Schoolmaster's eased by the Moose 4-2.

Mowry, Down and Airhart did the heavy work for the O. P. S., Down and Airhart both connecting for circuit clouts in the fray that was marked by a wild ninth inning that saw the winning club push over 11 runs. Malaska and Jurgens took three out of four apiece to spark the losers attack.

The Moose outhit the School masters five to six but were unable to muster runs out of their bingles. Freeman pasted a circuit clout for the Teachers and LeMunyon returned the compliment for the losing Moose.

The "singing" of a cricket is really not singing at all, but more of a "fiddle music." On the wing of a cricket is a rough, narrow, ribbon-like pad, known as the file. This is rubbed against a rough part on the other wing, and from that comes the sound. It is the male that makes all "the music."

The flight of a Canada goose was recently timed on the Malheur Wildlife Refuge in Oregon, and found to be 54 miles an hour. The goose, hatched on the refuge has the habit of following autos. A member of the staff, traveling at a speed of 50 miles an hour, saw the goose flying about 20 feet above him. This speed was maintained for 3½ miles, and when the driver raised his speed to 54 miles an hour, the goose stayed with the car for a half mile more.

A wolf usually mates for life. Upon the death of its companion, an older male or female seldom mates again, or even joins a family group on forays. Thus, the expression a "lone wolf" is true even to wildlife.

Over 800 Fans See Pot and Pan Contest

Lead Changes Hands Four Times In Hectic Fairground Battle

BEFORE the largest crowd of the season, 823 paying customers, who attended a joint ladies' and aluminum pot and pan night, the Mansfield Braves bowed to a stubborn Lima Panda club 10-9 in an extra inning tilt that saw the lead change hands four times.

The Braves eased out in front with two markers in the first and third, saw their margin vanish behind the smoke of a three-run barrage in the fourth, took the lead again with four runs in the fifth, watched Lima chalk up six runs in the seventh and eighth, tied the score with a two-run comeback in the last of the ninth only to see the game fade to Lima as Hausman scored on an error.

Mansfield tied the score in the ninth as Eddie Mutryn went to second on a wild pitch, Siegbert filed out, and Bill Salem poled a homer to left field that brought in two runs and tied the score.

* * *

The homer almost ended in disaster for Lima's left fielder, Roy Carlson, who made a great attempt to field the ball against the fence. He reached the ball and the fence almost simultaneously and had to be helped from the field. Carlson was well shaken but otherwise uninjured. Symsack replaced him in the left field spot.

The ninth ended as Bill Reinka walked, Manager Clowson bounded out to first, Freddie Wolpert was intentionally passed and Bobbie TeStruth flied to left field.

Lima pushed over the winning run in the extra heat after two men were out as Hausman singled, Vorell's double sent him to third and he scored on Dick Morse's low throw to first base on Hubbard's bounder to short.

The Braves were retired three straight as Hurler Bob Snoddy, who replaced Vorell in the tenth, turned on the heat.

The Braves loss dropped them two and one-half games behind the Fremont Green Sox who were busy tightening their grip on the league lead as they set down the Tiffin Mud Hens last night 11-1.

Mansfield's scheduled game tonight with the Sox at Fremont has been postponed because of a circus.

The Braves will meet Chappie Geygan's league leaders in a double-header at the Fairground Sunday. The first game will start at 1:30 p. m.

PAM—Mistaken Identification! By A. W. Brewerton

HATE TO TELL YOU ALL THESE GRUESOME DETAILS, HONEY, BUT IT'S THE ONLY WAY I CAN EXPLAIN WHAT HAPPENED. ONE OF THE GANG, WHEN HE WAS KILLED, HAD SOMETHING ON HIM THAT EXPLODED, AND HIS FACE WAS MUTILATED BEYOND RECOGNITION
7-26
—BUT THE LOCAL AUTHORITIES FOUND SOME PAPERS ON HIM BEARING MY NAME — HOW HE GOT THEM I'VE NO IDEA — AND NATURALLY THEY THOUGHT ——
A LETTER, DAVID GORDON F.B.I.! TOO BAD, IT'S ANOTHER OF THE G-MEN!
—IT WAS I! I HAD VANISHED, CHASING THAT RINGLEADER, ALSO I HAD NO TIME OF COURSE TO SEND A REPORT TO F.B.I. HEADQUARTERS HERE, AND THEY NATURALLY THOUGHT THE IDENTIFICATION WAS CORRECT. WITNESSES WHO SAID THE TWO MEN THAT DASHED FROM THE MILL WERE BOTH ESCAPING GANGSTERS, WERE MISTAKEN, OF COURSE!
JUST THEN THE SUDDEN JANGLING OF THE PHONE BELL STARTLED THEM BOTH!
WHEE! WONDER WHO THAT IS? SOUNDS EXCITED!

LEADING ISSUES HOLD DESPITE JAPAN CRISIS

Keep to Narrow Margin While Market Analysts Study Domestic Reports.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market took the latest far eastern crisis in stride today and leading issues held to an exceptionally narrow range.

On the upside were Boeing, Kennecott, and Western Union. U. S. Steel was unchanged. A trifle lower were Standard Oil (N.J.), Anaconda, Chrysler and Montgomery Ward.

Among items studied by market analysts in their search for long-term trend clues were:

The compilation of the National Lumber Manufacturers association placing lumber output for the week ended July 19 at 4 per cent greater than the preceding week and 15 per cent above a year ago.

The treasury department's bureau of internal revenue announced production of industrial alcohol was currently at a new record.

Driver Thrown Free Just In Time

John Laughlin, 24, Mansfield truck driver, was thrown clear of the cab of the truck pictured above before the heavily loaded trailer crashed down on the cab crushing it. Laughlin told state highway patrolemn he lost control of the truck about five miles northeast of Mansfield on U. S. Route 42 while attempting to avoid hitting an automobile he was passing. He escaped with cuts and bruises.

SABOTAGE 'OUT' IN 2 CRASHES

Army Probers Rule on Crack-Up at Cardington; Start Inquiry In New Plane Mishap.

hune, co-pilot and Private William K. Kither escaped injury.

The scattered wreckage of the Lockheed which crashed and burned near Cardington, causing the deaths of Lieuts. Richard F. Rush, Tucson, Ariz., and N. L. Warner, Dallas, ferry command pilots, was gathered up and taken to Patterson field for investigation.

The pilots reported just before they crashed that their motors were "sputtering." A board of inquiry composed of Capt. William E. Shuttles, Lieuts. Louis Hansman and Rex Safford, and two Lockheed representatives, Edward Guy and Herbert Putnam was to investigate the crash.

The Douglas bomber which crashed at Newark was en route to Washington, carrying official mail.

Lieuts. Francis O. Gideon, Langley field, Va., and Ralph A. Reeves, Tucson, Ariz., escaped from the other Lockheed after it ground-looped, swing in a wide circle and burst into flames on Patterson field.

The crash was to be investigated by a board made up of Capt. Herman Hunt, Lieuts. Burton Butman and Kenneth W. Fawver, all of Patterson field.

Patterson field's regular accident committee was assigned to investigate the crash of the Douglas transport on the field. Two officers and five enlisted men escaped injury.

Sisters Start Horseback Tour Of North Dakota

PIERE, S. D.—(INS)—Following the tradition of the pony express, Irene and Alice Angerhofer, two young sisters of Milbank, S. D., are making a thousand-mile tour of their state on horseback.

The girls, disregarding the modern conveniences of motor car and railroad, set out from their home on two good mounts and within three weeks had traversed the state on a 500-mile jaunt to the Black hills. One of their main objectives was Mount Rushmore where the gigantic carvings of the late Gutzon Borglum are situated.

The girls reported that their main inconvenience was rain but that they also found difficulty securing accommodations for their horses—even in the range section of South Dakota the old-fashioned livery stable has almost passed out of existence.

HOSPITAL NOTES

CRESTLINE—Mrs. C. E. Iman, Clink boulevard, underwent an operation, and Constance Smith of R. D. 1, Crestline, submitted to a tonsillectomy Friday at Emergency hospital.

Dismissals included Mrs. John Fullenlove, N. Wiley street; Martha Carol McJunkin, John street; Celestine Saum, North Thoman street and Evelyn Blue of Prospect.

MADE ELKS OFFICIAL

UHRICHSVILLE — (INS) — Al Schwartz, Uhrichsville clothing merchant, was appointed Southeastern Ohio District Deputy of the Elks lodge by the new Grand Exalted Ruler, John S. McClelland.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Appointed to Board — W. E. Stough, president of the Ashland Production Credit association has been appointed to serve on the Richland county defense board for agriculture, it was announced today.

Check Cycle Fire — Firemen were called out today at 1:53 a. m. to extinguish a blaze in the ignition of a motorcycle at the intersection of Walnut and Fourth streets. Improper wiring was blamed for the fire.

Check Awning Blaze—Mansfield firemen were called out yesterday at 1:30 p. m. to extinguish a blaze in an awning at the J. C. Penney company in the Walpark building. A cigaret thrown from a window of the building was blamed for the fire.

Pays Speed Fine — George J. Kuhn, Perrysville, R. D. 2, was fined $10 and costs today by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court after pleading guilty to a speeding charge. He was arrested by police on Park avenue west after they clocked him doing 52 miles an hour and passing four other cars.

County Board Meets—The Richland county board of education was scheduled to consider two petitions for the transfer of land to the Shelby school district at its regular meeting today at the courthouse. One petition requests the

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

I KINDA GOT THE WIM-WAMS ... WHEN THE HUMMING BIRD LEFT FOR CHINA YESTERDAY, CAPTAIN AN' MRS. JIM SEZ FOR ME NOT TO WORRY AN' NOT TO CRY ... BUT I JUST CAN'T HELP WORRYIN' AN' CRYIN' INSIDE OF ME ...
THIS IS AN AWFUL SWELL HOUSE AN' MRS. CAPTAIN ROBERT TREATED ME NICE AN' POLITE ... SHE SAID I WAS WELCOME AN' SHE HOPED I'D BE HAPPY HERE
I GUESS SHE'D FEEL MAD AT ME IF SHE SAW ME CRYIN' ... 'COURSE, IT AIN'T HER FAULT THAT THE HUMMING BIRD IS GONE ... AN' ANY KID WOULD BE GLAD ALL OVER TO HAVE A HOME LIKE THIS
DARRELL McCLURE
LOOK AT ALL THE SWELL NEW CLOTHES MRS. ROBERT BOUGHT ME ... WHY, THIS CLOSET IS ALMOST AS BIG AS CAPTAIN EZRA'S WHOLE HOUSE!
HONEST, ZERO, THIS IS AN AWFUL BIG PLACE ... YOU AN' ME HAVE BEEN WALKIN' FOR OVER AN HOUR AN' IT'S ALL THE FRONT YARD OF CAPTAIN ROBERT'S HOUSE
I ALWAYS THOUGHT SAILORS WASN'T VERY RICH, BUT I GUESS I'M A DUMB OX, 'CAUSE CAPTAIN ROBERT IS A SAILOR AN' HE MUST BE TERRIBLE RICH TO OWN SO MUCH
'AN' WILLYA LOOK AT THAT BARN? ALMOST AS BIG AS A COURT HOUSE OR POST OFFICE ... WE'RE LUCKY TO LIVE IN SUCH A SWELL PLACE
DARRELL McCLURE
LOOK AT ALL THE KIDS HAVIN' FUN ... I KINDA WISHT WE COULD PLAY WITH THEM, BUT MRS. ROBERT SEZ I MUST REMEMBER NOT TO MINGLE WITH THE SERVANTS' CHILDREN
PARDON, MISS ANNIE ... MADAME WISHES YOU TO RIDE WITH HER THIS MORNING
GLORYOSKY, THAT'LL BE GRAND!
I'LL HURRY UP AN' EAT BREAKFAST AS FAST AS I KIN, AN'-
PARDON, MISS ... BUT THERE IS NO NEED TO HURRY
MADAME IS STILL SLEEPING ... I WILL RETURN WHEN IT IS TIME FOR YOU TO CHANGE YOUR CLOTHES
CHANGE MY CLOTHES? THIS IS A BRAND-NEW DRESS ... I THINK IT'S BEAUTIFUL
THE DRESS IS CHARMING, BUT UNSUITABLE FOR DRIVING ... MADAME IS VERY PARTICULAR ABOUT SUCH THINGS
HUH ... ANOTHER BIRD IN A GILDED CAGE ... "LUCKY" ORPHAN? SHE HAS EVERYTHING MONEY CAN BUY ... EXCEPT USELESS THINGS LIKE FREEDOM, FRIENDSHIP AND HAPPINESS ...!
GOOD MORNING, ANNIE ... I HOPE YOU ARE ENJOYING LIFE WITH US
THANK YOU, MR. BOB ... I'M TERRIBLE HAPPY ... I GOT SWELL CLOTHES ... SERVANTS TO WAIT ON ME, AN' ...
YES, I KNOW JUST HOW HAPPY YOU ARE ... BUT PLEASE DON'T CALL ME "MISTER" BOB OR I'LL START CALLING YOU "MISS ANNIE" ... I WANT TO BE YOUR FRIEND
MAYBE IF YOU AND I TRIED HARD ENOUGH ... WE MIGHT FIND SOMETHING TO MAKE US ... HUSH ... I DON'T MEAN SNICKER OR SNICKER ... I MEAN TO REALLY LAUGH OUT LOUD
HONEST, MIST-- I MEAN, BOB ... I THINK YOU'RE GRAND!
DARRELL McCLURE
HUH! HER MAJESTY, THE QUEEN, IN THE ROYAL CAR
SHE'S ANNOYED, BECAUSE WE ALL DON'T GET DOWN ON OUR KNEES AND BOW TO HER ROYAL HIGHNESS
AND WILL YOU LOOK AT THAT BRAZEN LITTLE ORPHAN ... TRYING TO ACT LIKE A PRINCESS!
YOU KNOW THE OLD SAYING = "PUT A BEGGAR ON HORSEBACK"
AND SHE USED TO BE SUCH A FRIENDLY LITTLE CHILD ... NOW SHE DOESN'T EVEN LOOK AT US!!
WHY SHOULD SHE WASTE TIME, LOOKING AT A LOT OF COMMON PEOPLE?!?
DARRELL McCLURE
YES, DEAR ... I KNOW THE RIFF-RAFF IN THE TOWN ARE MAD AT ME ... THAT'S THE RESULT OF JEALOUSY AND IGNORANCE ... WHEN ONE IS RICH THEY MUST EXPECT THE HATRED OF THEIR INFERIORS!
'MORNING, ZERO ... IT'S A SWELL DAY ... COME ON ... I'LL TAKE YOU OUT WHERE WE KIN HAVE SOME EXERCISE AN' LOTSA FUN
KENNEL MASTER
WOW WOWFF
GEE, ZERO, THIS IS A SWELL PLACE TO LIVE ... FANCY CLOTHES ... FINE FOOD ... ALL KINDS OF SERVANTS ... I KNOW I OUGHT TO BE TERRIBLE HAPPY ... BUT I'M NOT
WHEN WE WERE POOR AN' LIVED ON THE HUMMING BIRD WITH CAPTAIN AN' MRS. JIM WE HAD LOTSA FUN EVERY DAY ... EVERYONE IN TOWN LIKED US ... ALL THE KIDS WOULD HOLLER, "HELLO, ANNIE ... COME ON AN' PLAY WITH US" ...
DARRELL McCLURE
NOW WE'RE LIVIN' HERE IN THIS SWELL HOUSE ... WE HAVE TO ACT LIKE WE WERE AWFUL RICH ... AN' ALL THE KIDS IN TOWN ARE MAD AT ME, 'CAUSE MRS. ROBERT SEZ NOT TO PLAY WITH COMMON CHILDREN ... AN' IT MAKES ME FEEL BAD ALL OVER!

SECRET AGENT X-9

SWELL JAM YOU'VE WORKED YOURSELF INTO, X-9 — POSING AS ANSL, ONE OF OUR SECRET POLICE.. AND GETTING TAKEN ABOARD ONE OF OUR COUNTRY'S SUBMARINES! HERE COMES THE CAPTAIN!
I'M READY FOR HIM, "LADY!"
MY RESPECTS! DO I UNDERSTAND THAT THIS MAN, CLAIMING TO BE THE SECRET POLICE AGENT, ANSL, IS AN IMPOSTOR?
YES!
THAT'S WRONG! I AM ANSL!
SILENCE! OBVIOUSLY YOU ARE LYING. ONE NEEDS ONLY TO GLANCE AT YOU TO SEE YOU ARE AMERICAN! LET ME SEE YOUR PAPERS — I LOST THEM!
LOST THEM — SIR!
WHY, YOU —!
MEL GRAFF
TAKE HIM AWAY! I SHALL QUESTION HIM LATER!
IT WAS WISE OF YOU TO DENOUNCE THIS IMPOSTOR, POSING AS ONE OF OUR SECRET POLICE, "LADY"! I SHALL CITE YOUR EXCEPTIONAL WORK IN MY REPORT TO THE GENERAL STAFF!
THANK YOU, CAPTAIN!
YOU SAY HE IS A YANKEE DETECTIVE?
YES... BEEN TRAILING ME FOR WEEKS, HOPING TO LOCATE AN AMERICAN, KNOWN AS "HILARY"! THIS MAN, "HILARY," IS A FORMER ECONOMIC ADVISER TO ONE OF THE SUBJUGATED COUNTRIES.. HE'S WITHHOLDING SEVERAL MILLIONS FROM OUR COUNTRY!
INDEED? I HAVE NOT HEARD OF THE MAN, BUT IF "LADY" HAS BEEN ASSIGNED TO MEET HIM, I AM SURE SHE WILL SPEEDILY CHARM HIM INTO COMPLETE AGREEMENT WITH THE VIEWS OF OUR GOVERNMENT!
MEL GRAFF
LIEUTENANT, REPORT TO MY QUARTERS FOR ORDERS!
HAVE THE AMERICAN IMPOSTOR BROUGHT HERE. I WISH TO QUESTION HIM!
AT ONCE, MY CAPTAIN!
LEAVE HIM WITH ME! SO...STILL BELLIGERENT, EH? YOU YANKEES HAVE YET TO LEARN THAT IT IS FUTILE TO BATTLE A SUPERIOR FORCE!
THEY TOLD WASHINGTON THE SAME THING AT VALLEY FORGE, CAPTAIN!
PERSONALLY AND BETWEEN THE TWO OF US, I ADMIRE YOUR SPIRIT! SMOKE?
SAY! WHAT IN —?
MEL GRAFF
THIS SUBMARINE COMMANDER IS ACTING UP TO SOMETHING! WITH THE CREW PRESENT, HE ACTED HARD-BOILED, BUT AFTER THEY LEFT, HE OFFERED ME A CIGAR.. HMM! LOCKING HIS DOOR —
STEP IN HERE!
LISTEN CAREFULLY, YANKEE! YOU ARE IN THE ESCAPE-CHAMBER...OUR POSITION IS THREE MILES FROM THE MAINLAND., I HAVE PROVIDED A SMALL PONTOON... I AM PERMITTING YOU TO GET AWAY!
THANKS, OLD MAN — DO I GET SHOT IN THE BACK WHEN I REACH TOP OR WILL THERE BE A WELCOMING COMMITTEE OF MACHINE-GUNS ON THE PIER WHEN I LAND?
MEL GRAFF
THIS IS NO PLOT AGAINST YOU! MY LIFE IS IN MORE JEOPARDY THAN YOURS!
THEN WHY ARE YOU OFFERING TO LET ME ESCAPE?
DESPITE OUTWARD APPEARANCES, I, THE COMMANDER OF THIS SUBMARINE, AM IN MUTINY! NOT AGAINST MY COUNTRY, BUT AGAINST THE GANG WHOSE OBJECT SEEMS TO BE TO FIND US A PLACE IN HISTORY BESIDE THE BARBARIANS!
WHAT!
AS YET, I AM UNSUSPECTED, BUT I HAVE NOT SUNK SHIPS AS ORDERED! ON THE CONTRARY, I HAVE WARNED THEM IT IS TO MY PURPOSE TO LET YOU ESCAPE!
.. BY THIS UNIFORM, WHICH ONCE COMMANDED RESPECT AND NOT HATRED, I SWEAR THIS IS THE TRUTH!
YOU HEAR HIM? TREASON!
MEL GRAFF
OKAY CAPTAIN — I BELIEVE YOU'RE ON THE LEVEL! I'LL TAKE MY CHANCES ON GETTING OUT OF HERE!
GOOD! EVERYTHING IS READY!
FROM THIS ESCAPE-CHAMBER YOU WILL REACH THE SURFACE THE PONTOON WILL SHOOT UP WITH YOU PUT ON THIS JACKET AND THESE BOOTS — THEY WILL HELP YOU PASS AS A FISHERMAN!
WHEN YOU REACH SHORE, ASK FOR TOBIE! REMEMBER THE NAME — YOUR LIFE MAY DEPEND ON IT! TOBIE WILL GIVE YOU ALL AID POSSIBLE IN RESCUING YOUR "MR HILARY" FROM THE SECRET POLICE
I UNDERSTAND AND I'm READY!
WHILE IN AN ADJACENT CHAMBER OF THE SUBMARINE
THE CAPTAIN IS ABOUT TO PERMIT THE AMERICAN TO ESCAPE WE MUST STOP THIS COME!

ETTA KETT

I DONT LIKE THE WAY HE STANDS ON THE END OF THAT DOCK!
YEAH! KINDA GIVES YA THE CREEPS!
HEY! LOOK! HE'S JUMPING IN!
PULL THE POOR GOOF OUT! I'LL TACK AROUND-- PICK YOU BOTH UP!
RIGHT!
GO AWAY! SCRAM!!!
I DONT WANT TO BE SAVED!
BOP!
THANKS FOR THE LOCAL ANESTHETIC!
SORRY, I HAD TO BOP HIM-- BUT HE WAS TOO ROUGH FOR YOU TO HANDLE!
RUN OVER TO A HOUSE AND CALL AN AMBULANCE!"- I'LL GIVE HIM FIRST AID."
RIGHT!
I'VE BEEN WORKING ON HIM BUT HE'S STILL OUT LIKE A LIGHT."
I 'PHONED A HOSPITAL." THE AMBULANCE IS ON ITS WAY!
WE WERE SAILING - AND SAW HIM JUMP IN - YOU PULLED HIM OUT JUST IN TIME!
FUNNY - HE WAS YOUNG -- WELL-DRESSED WHAT 'DID HE DO A THING LIKE THAT FOR?
THERES PROBABLY A GIRL AT THE BOTTOM OF IT!
THATS AN IDEA!" MAYBE HE LEFT A NOTE?
HERE'S ONE!
NUMBER EIGHTY SIX!" THATS THE ADDRESS!
DOES MISS LILLIAN DEVOE, LIVE HERE?
WHY YES - BUT SHES NOT IN -" SHE JUST ROOMS HERE!
WHEN WILL SHE BE BACK? I HAVE AN IMPORTANT LETTER FOR HER!
SHE KEEPS CRAZY HOURS - MAYBE SHE WONT COME IN TILL MORNING -- SHES A SINGER -- IN THE BLUEMOON NIGHTCLUB!"
TO THE BLUEMOON!" AND STEP ON IT!"
RIGHT!
WE'D LIKE TO SEE LILLIAN DEVOE ITS TERRIBLY IMPORTANT!"
SHES SINGING NOW - WONT YOU HAVE A TABLE, AND WAIT?
WOW, SOME BLONDE FIRE!
WANT TO SEE ME?
WE SAVED A BOY FROM DROWNING - WE FOUND THIS LETTER ON THE DOCK - ITS ADDRESSED TO YOU!
SHES FAINTED!" STAND BACK, EVERYBODY!" GIVE HER AIR!
HOW IS HE? SORRY I FAINTED!"
OKAY, I GUESS!" HES IN HOSPITAL - READ THE NOTE!
I DONT HAVE TO --- I KNOW WHAT IT SAYS WITH OUT READING IT -- HE ALWAYS THREATENED TO DO SOMETHING AWFULLY DESPERATE", IF I DIDNT MARRY HIM!
WELL, WHY DONT YOU? HE MUST BE WACKY ABOUT YOU!"
IT WOULDNT WORK -- WE'RE FROM TWO DIFFERENT WORLDS!
HIS FAMILY IS RICH -- SNOOTY- THEY DONT LIKE ME -- HE SAID HED GIVE THEM UP -- BUT HE'D BE SORRY SOME DAY - THEN HE'D HATE ME!
I THINK WE'D BETTER TELL HIS FOLKS ABOUT THIS!
